

My Dear

London, May

We are this Morning out of the Country, and shall go perhaps to Ireland before we return to London again, and will be before we return. I have sent you several things I left you, which I you have received, and I have some things more which will be in a few Days. I sent a Box of Books a few Days ago, and you ^{will} find a letter in it, which gives you an Account of what will be sent to you. There shall be with you all Blessings with Heavenly Blessings -

My Best Love to you
I am ever your Dear Husband
