SECONDLY: REMARKS.

1. In general, the letters are sounded as in English. But notice:

(1) That Aleph has no sound. At the beginning of a syllable, it may be compared to h in hour, e. g. אַב = $\bar{a}v$; בָּא = $b\bar{a}$.

(2) That Hê has the sound of the rough breathing at the beginning of a syllable, but cannot be heard at the end of a syllable, e. g. הֹו = $h\hat{o}$; but, בֶּה = $b\bar{a}$.

(3) That most authorities treat Ayin, as if it had always lost its sound, though in transliteration it is denoted by the sign ʽ, e. g., עַיִן ʽ$\breve{a}y\breve{i}n$.

(4) That Hêth has a sound something like ch in loch, or in Rache.

(5) That Têth has a hard t sound which it is impossible for us to give in distinction from Tau. It is commonly marked in transliteration by a dot placed under it, e. g., טִים = $t\hat{i}t$.

(6) It is impossible for us to always distinguish Ṣādhe, Samekh and Śin. In transliteration, we arbitrarily print Sadhe as ṣ, Samekh as s, and Sin as ś.

(7) The student will pronounce Qôph like Kăph. It may be denoted by q, or by a k with a dot under it.

2. A dot placed in anyone of the six letters Beth, Gimel, Daleth, Pe, Kaph, and Tau, takes away its aspiration, i. e., changes it from v to b, f to p, gh to g. kh to k, dh to d, and th to t. These letters are called the Begadh-kephath letters.

3. Five letters have special forms, when final. Hence, they are called final letters. To distinguish it from final Nun, a final Kaph has two dots in it, perpendicular to each other; or, it may have three dots, one to show that it is Kaph and not Nun, and the other to show that it is k and not kh. E. g., Gen. xxvii: 38.

4. Since in Hebrew Manuscripts and printed works, words cannot be separated, certain letters may be extended to fill out the line. These are called litterae dilatabiles.

5. In accordance with the organs of speech with which the consonants are pronounced, they are divided into

(1) Gutturals א, ה, ח, ע.
(2) Palatals ג, כ, ק.
(3) Labials ב, ו, מ, פ.
(4) Sibilants ס, ז, צ, שׁ, שׂ.
(5) Dentals ד, ט, ת.
(6) Linguals ל, נ, ר.

LESSON II.

THE VOWELS.

The vowels have the following signs, names, and sounds.

short long

  ָ Păthăḥ, ă as in fat.
  ָ Qāmeṣ, a as in father.
  ֶ Seghôl, e as in met.
  ֵ Ṣere, e as in they.
  ִ Hiriq, i as in pit, or ī as in machine.
  וּ Šureq, u, usually like oo in toot.
  ֻ Kibbuṣ, u, as oo in toot, or in foot.
  וֹ Ḥolem, o as o in note.
  ָ Qameṣ-Ḥatuph, o as in not.

written under consonant after which they are pronounced.

Rem. 1. the letters Aleph, Hê, Wau, and Yodh, when used in helping to write the vowels, are called vowel letters. In such cases, the vowels are always long, and are said to be written fully. Vowels written without the vowel letters are said to be written defectively.

Rem. 2. Aleph is only occasionally used as a vowel letter, especially to represent long ā.

Rem. 3. Hê is never used as a vowel letter, except at the end of a word, where it is used exclusively, (except an occasional Aleph) for final Qameṣ and Seghol; and in certain cases, for Ṣere and Ḥolem.

Rem. 4. Wau is used exclusively for final u, and generally for final o.

Rem. 5. Yodh only is used for final i. Final e has commonly the vowel letter Yodh, but sometimes Hê.

LESSON III.
CERTAIN COMMON SIGNS.

1. The sign ֽ, called Shewa, is written under a consonant:

(1) To denote the absence of a vowel sound. This is called Shewa quiescens, or silent, e. g., מַלְכּוּ.

(2) To denote the presence of a half, or obscure vowel sound after a letter. This is called Shewa mobile, or vocal, e. g., שְׁנֵי.

Rem. When the vowel preceding the letter followed by a vocal Shewa is short, the Shewa is called medium, e. g. מַלְכֵי.

2. A sign inserted after a vowel, which is followed by a letter with vocal Shewa, is called Methegh, e. g. קָמְלוּ.

3. A dot placed in a letter to show that it is to be doubled, is called Daghesh-Forte. The letter to be doubled, must be preceded by a full vowel, and must be followed by a full or half vowel, קָטְלוּ, כֻּלּוֹ.

4. When a final guttural is preceded by a heterogeneous vowel (i. e., any other vowel than ă, ā, or â), a Pathaḥ is placed under the final guttural, but pronounced before it. This Pathaḥ is called Pathaḥ furtive, It originated from the difficulty of pronouncing after the vowels e, i, o, u.

5. The sign of a short vowel is often added to the Shewa sign, the two together constituting what is called a compound Shewa. Because of the hurried manner in which the vowel is pronounced, the sign is called Ḥateph (i. e., hurried). There are three such signs, to wit:

Ḥateph-Pathaḥ, ֲ.

Ḥateph-Seghol, ֱ.

Ḥateph-Qames, ֳ.

Rem. 1. The compound Shewa is commonly used with gutturals, the simple Shewa occasionally. The simple Shewa, on the other hand, is commonly used with letters

3. You cannot double a consonant, unless it is immediately preceeded by a full vowel.

other than gutturals, the compound Shewa but rarely,
e. g., אֲנִי, אֱכֹל, עֱנִי; נֶאְדָּר, נֶחְמָד; וֶחֲב, בְּנִי.

Rem. 2. There are a few words, each of whose last two letters has a simple Shewa. It is probable, that the first of these was silent and the second vocal, e. g., יֵשְׁקְ, יִבְךְ.

Rem. 3. Extraordinary is the occurrence of a silent
Shewa with the first letter of שְׁתַּיִם.

LESSON IV.

1. The naturally long, and hence unchangeable vowels, ê, î, ô, û, are ordinarily written fully, i. e., along with the vowel letters. Sometimes, however, they are written defectively, i. e., without the vowel letters.

On the other hand, the tone long, or compensating, vowels, ā, ē, and ō, are almost invariably written defectively, except at the end of a word.

At the end of a word, no short vowel can occur, and the long vowels are almost always written fully.

2. All syllables begin with a consonant, the only exception being the conjunction û _and._

Rem. A syllable may begin with two consonants; but in pronouncing them, we must always insert a half vowel between them. Notice that in Hebrew a consonant followed by a half vowel does not constitute a syllable.

3. When a syllable ends with a vowel, it is called open; when it ends with a consonant, it is called closed.

Rem. 1. A syllable with a short vowel, followed by a consonant with a vocal Shewa, is said to be half open.
By some, such a syllable is said to be loosely closed, or wavering.

Rem. 2. A syllable ending with two consonants is said to be doubly closed.

Rem. 3. A syllable ending with a quiescent Aleph is commonly open. All final Alephs are quiescent, and also, all medial Alephs, which do not have the sign of a Shewa or of a vowel under them.

4. An open syllable with the tone has commonly a

An open syllable takes a long vowel;
A closed " " " short vowel.
The presence of the tone of a word may reverse this rule.
The tone or main accent is on the long vowel. This is always the case, when the open syllable is the ultimate. But, when the open accented syllable is the penult, the vowel of it is frequently short.

Rem. 1. In the syllable before the tone, the vowel ă is commonly heightened to ā. In like cases, an ĭ is sometimes heightened to ē. These heightened vowels are called pretonic ā or ē. ‸Pretonic ō, heightened from ŭ occurs but seldom. When these heightened vowels have arisen by way of compensation, on account of the impossibility of doubling a succeeding guttural, or Resh, they become necessary to preserve the form denoted by the doubled letter, and are hence unchangeable. Such heightening occurs especially in the intensive stems, in Niphal forms where the Nun should be assimilated, and in certain contracted forms of roots whose second and third radicals are the same.

Rem. 2. In an open syllable, which has the secondary tone, a short vowel frequently occurs. The secondary tone is ordinarily marked by a perpendicular sign called Methegh.

Rem. 3. When used before an unvoweled consonant, the inseparable prepositions take a short unaccented vowel to aid in their pronunciation. This is called a helping vowel.

Rem. 4. A vowel in an open syllable, arising from a compound Shewa coming before another Shewa, is also short. A compound Shewa cannot be pronounced before another Shewa, but must be turned into the corresponding short vowel, to which the vowel preceding is then assimilated.

Rem. 5. A short vowel, which was originally in a closed syllable, is retained, when the syllable becomes open in consequence of a guttural's ending the syllable and taking a compound Shewa.

5. Closed syllables, when without the tone, have a short vowel. Closed syllables, with the tone, may have either a long or a short vowel.

6. Syllables are said to be Sharpened, when they end in a consonant which is doubled. The first of these consonants ends one syllable, and the second begins the next.

7. Syllables ending with two consonants are found only at the end of words; and then, but seldom.

LESSON V.

A.

(1) Dagesh lene is the name given to the point occurring in ב, ג, ד, כ, פ, and ת, when they are not immediately preceded by a vowel sound, i. e. either a full vowel, or a half-vowel (denoted by Shewa). These six letters are called the Begadh-kefath letters. This point indicates that the aspiration has been taken away from these letters i. e. that v has become b; gh, g; dh, d; kh, k; f, p, and th, t. This loss of aspiration is called asperation, or hardening. When doubled, the Begadh-kefath letters always are hardened and hence receive a dagesh, which is then, however, called dagesh forte.

Rem. 1. A vowel sound may pass over from a word ending in a vowel to a Begadh-kefath letter at the beginning of the following word.

Rem. 2. After a diphthong, the Begadh-kefath letters are hardened and receive Dagesh lene. This is because the Wau or Yodh at the end of the diphthong forms the ending of what is really a closed syllable.

Rem. 3. The Begadh-kefath letters in the middle of a word, when preceded by a closed syllable, take Dagesh lene. The last letter of the closed syllable takes under it a silent Shewa. When the Begadh-kefath letters in the middle of a word are preceded by vocal Shewa, they are aspirated.

➤ Notice, that the presence, or absence, of a Dagesh lene shows whether the preceding Shewa is vocal, or silent. It also shows whether the preceding syllable is closed, or half-open.

Rem. 4. Exceptional uses of Dagesh lene are found in שְׁתַּיִם two and in forms like שָׁלַחַתְּ the 2nd. fem. sing. of the perfect of the Lamedh Guttural verb. Perhaps, in the latter case, the Dagesh is forte.

B.

1. Makkeph is a sign, resembling a hyphen, put between two, or more, words to show that they are all accented, as if one word.

Learn > 2. Methegh is ordinarily the sign of the secondary accent, which is found on the accent or third syllable before that which receives the principal tone. Sometimes a second Methegh is found upon the fourth syllable before the principal tone.

Rem. 1. Methegh is not employed with וּ, resulting from the copula וְ being turned into a vowel.

Rem. 2. Before Makkeph, Methegh is always given to a word ending in a vowel, when this vowel precedes a toneless syllable, or one bearing the tone, but beginning with a half-vowel.

Rem. 3. Methegh occurs further:

> (1) With a long vowel in an open syllable, before a consonant with vocal Shewa.

> (2) To distinguish a long vowel from a short before a letter with Shewa.

(3) With a toneless Ṣere.

> (4) With all vowels before a consonant with compound Shewa. (Except, of course, when the consonant under which the compound Shewa occurs is doubled).

(5) With the initial syllables of הָיָה to be and חָיָה to live, to show that they are closed.

(6) With Qameṣ in the penult of the sharpened syllables of בָּתִּים houses and אָנָּה pray!.

(7) With the Pathaḥ of the article, or of the inseparable preposition with the article, in a half-open syllable.

Note. This use of Methegh is not employed before a Yodh with a half vowel, nor before the syllable with the tone. The Pathaḥ of Wau conversive in a half-open syllable does not take Methegh, except in the case of וַיְהִי and וִיהִי when accented with pashta and followed by Makkeph.

(8) With the interrogative particle Hê when pointed with pathah, except before an unvowelled Yodh, Dagesh forte, or the tone syllable.

(9) In a few other cases, apparently for the sake of clearness in pronunciation, or to distinguish forms which without it might be confused.

LESSON VI.

1. Raphê is a line placed over a letter to show that the point, which we might have expected to find in the letter, has been omitted, not by mistake, but intentionally.

2. A point put in a letter to show that the letter is to be doubled, is called Dagesh forte. No letter can be doubled, except when preceded by a full vowel and followed by a full or half vowel.

Rem. 1. When the same letter is to be read twice in the same word without any sound coming between, the letter is written once and the doubled letter denoted by means of Dagesh forte, e. g. ḳ̆ăllā = קַלָּה. But, if any sound, such as a half-vowel, comes between, the letter must be written twice, e. g. הַלֲלוּ. This rule applies, also, to the suffix ךְ:
following another k.

Rem. 2. A Dagesh forte, called conjunctive, is sometimes found in the initial consonant of a monosyllable, or of a dissyllable accented on the penult, following a word ending in a vowel. These two words are usually connected by means of Makkeph. מֹשֶׁה לֵּאמֹר is an exception to the rule, that the second word should be accented on the penult.

Rem. 3. After וֶה this and מַה what?, when followed by Makkeph, a Dagesh forte conjunctive is always found.

Rem. 4. After a word accented on the penult and ending in a vowel, a Dagesh forte conjunctive is found in the first letter of a monosyllable, or of a word accented on the penult.

Rem. 5. Except in the case of לְךָ, monosyllables containing the inseparable prepositions, do not take a Dagesh forte conjunctive. The conjunction Wau never takes a Dagesh forte.

Rem. 6. a. When a liquid, or Ḳof, is preceded by a vowel and followed by a half-vowel, it sometimes sounds to the ear as if doubled. This apparent doubling is denoted by a point called Dagesh forte dirimens, or separative, e. g., עִנְּבֵי for ʿinᵉvê.

b. Similar to this doubling is the doubling of a liquid in certain pronouns and at the end of a sentence to bring out with distinctness the sound of the vowel preceding them, e. g., חָדְלוּ, הֵמָּה.

Rem. 7. Since a final letter cannot be doubled, Dagesh forte, the sign of doubling, is never found in final letters. In cases like אַתְּ and נָתַתְּ (the only apparent exceptions), it is probable, that a half-vowel, like the French final e muet, was pronounced after the Tau.

Rem. 8. When a letter, which according to the form or general usage should be doubled, ceases to be thus doubled, when read, it ceases to take a Dagesh forte, when written. The student must keep in mind, that the Hebrew system of signs was an attempt to reproduce to the eye the sounds which were patent to the ear. A letter, like a guttural, which either had no apparent sound, or was very difficult to pronounce, could not be doubled. The liquids, palatals, sibilants and w and y, cannot, readily be doubled under any circumstances; and in Hebrew they were commonly not doubled when they were followed by a half-vowel merely. Resh is practically never doubled, e. g., וַיְהִי for וַיְּהִי; מְלָאוּ for מִלְּאוּ; יִשְׂאוּ for יִשְּׂאוּ; הָרִים for הָרָרִים.

LESSON VII.

PECULIARITIES OF THE GUTTURALS.

The peculiarities of the gutturals arise from the physical difficulty, or impossibility, of pronouncing them. It is perfectly obvious, that if a sound cannot be uttered, it cannot be doubled. When the Hebrew Massoretes invented the system of signs which was meant to represent the language as it sounded to them, the gutturals א and ע had lost their sound entirely; ה could not be pronounced at the end of a syllable; and ח could not be doubled. To preserve the roots and forms, and hence the meanings, the Hebrews have resorted to several devices, which are called by grammarians the peculiarities of gutturals.

1. When according to the general usage, the guttural should have been doubled, the vowel preceding it may be heightened, that is, changed from ĭ to ē, from ă to ā or é, from ŭ to ō. This change is said to be by way of compensation. Its purpose and effect is to preserve the form. Hence, the compensative vowels are unchangeable, i. e., exist, whereever the forms require them, e. g., the first vowel in מֵאֵן remains in מֵאֲנָה, מֵאַנְתֶּם; so the Ṣere of the preformative in יֵחְבָּאוּ, the ā in מֵאֲנוּ; the é in הֶעֱנִי and הָפְּתָרוּ; and the ō in גָּבְהָה and יִגְאָלוּ.

Rem. In many cases, especially with Ḥeth, the vowel is not heightened. Since, in such cases, the preceding vowel remains short in an unaccented open syllable, the consonant is said to be "implicitly doubled", e. g., נִחַם, בֵּעֵר, כְּהַן.

2. The easiest vowels to pronounce along with guttural sounds are ă and ā, which are consequently called the guttural vowels. This physiological fact accounts for the so-called preference of the gutturals for the vowel Pathaḥ. This preference is obvious

(1) In the retention of original Pathaḥs, where in the absence of a guttural, the ă has been changed to ĭ or é, or ē, e. g., יַחְמֹד but יִקְטֹל, נַעַר but מֶלֶךְ, שָׁלַח but קָטַל.

(2) In the adoption of ă as the helping vowel instead of the more usual ĕ, e. g. זֶבַח.

> Rem. 1. Because of the difficulty of pronouncing a final guttural after a heterogeneous vowel (i. e. after ē, î, ō, ô, or û) a helping vowel Pathaḥ in inserted before the Guttural. This Pathaḥ is called Pathaḥ furtive. It does not constitute a syllable, is purely euphonic, and must be pronounced between the long vowel and the guttural. It is employed with all the gutturals except Aleph, whose sound has become entirely quiescent, e. g., רֵעַ, גָּבוֹהַּ, גּוּחַ, נִשְׁלֹחַ, הוֹרִיעַ; but קְרֹא, רְפָא.

Rem. 2. Before a final guttural (except Aleph), the helping vowel is uniformly Pathaḥ; after a medium guttural, it is always Pathaḥ except in the case of the four words: אֹהֶל, לֶחֶם, רֶחֶם and בֹּהֶן. With final Aleph, we find דֶּשֶׁא and פֶּלֶא.

Rem. 3. In the first syllable of a word, a Seghol is frequently employed, before or after a guttural, instead of a Ḥirik whether original, or attenuated from an original Pathaḥ. In a sharpened syllable, however, the Ḥirik is found and, also, occasionally elsewhere, e. g., הֶמְדָּה, חֶרְפָּה, חֶלְקָה, עֶבְרָה, אֶצְבַּע, עֶרְוָה, עֶלְיוֹן, עֶזְרָה, עֶגְלוֹ, נֶהְפַּךְ, יֶחְסָר. But אָמְרָה, עֵתּוֹ, חָנַם.

3. Instead of a half, or obscure, vowel denoted by Shewa, the gutturals are pronounced with a short vowel, either ă, ĭ, or ŏ, denoted by the compound Shewas, e. g., חֲדָשִׁים, אֱכֹל, הֲנִינִי. See Lesson III 5.

In many cases, also, a guttural takes a compound Shewa instead of a simple silent Shewa. הֶעֱמַד, יֶחֱזַק,הֶעֱמַד.

Rem. 1. A compound Shewa coming before a vocal Shewa is changed into the corresponding short vowel, that is, ֱ to ֶ, ֲ to ַ, and ֳ to ָ. The vowel preceding this new vowel takes Methegh, e. g., יַעֲמְדוּ, יֶחֶזְקוּ, יַעַמְדוּ. This change into a short vowel is necessary, because you cannot have a vocal Shewa at the end of a syllable, nor two of them at the beginning of one. E. g., יַעֲמְדוּ, יֶחֱזְקוּ, and הֶעֱמְדוּ are impossible. according to the rules for syllables.

Rem. 2. All the gutturals prefer Ḥaṭeph-Pathaḥ. But an Aleph when in the syllable with the tone, prefers Ḥaṭeph-Seghol. In the case of אֲרִי, אֲנִי and אֲנָ, the choice of the Ḥaṭeph is determined by the original vowels ă and ŭ. When not in the tone syllable, Aleph also prefers Ḥaṭeph-Pathaḥ.

4. The Hebrews being unable to double r, have heightened the vowel preceding it, whenever the form required its doubling, e. g., בֵּרַךְ, בָּרָא, בֹּרַךְ.

Rem. On account of the difficulty of pronouncing r, the Hebrews frequently use ă before it, where the other letters except gutturals would have ĕ, or ĭ. Before a final r in an accented syllable, the original ă is heightened to é instead of ē in the case of דִּבֵּר.

LESSON VIII.

The great

A. FEEBLENESS OF ALEPH AND HÊ. in their tendency to quiesce

> 1. At the end of a syllable, Aleph is commonly written to show the root, but is otherwise ordinarily treated as if non existent, i. e., it does not take a Shewa, nor a Pathaḥ furtive, nor a Pathaḥ before it; and the Begadh-kefath letter after it are aspirated, e. g., בָּרָא, יֶשְׁא, מָלַאת.

Rem. 1. Final Aleph preceded by a Shewa is said to be otiant, e. g., גְּיְא, יָרְא, חֵטְא.

> Rem. 2. At the beginning of a syllable, Aleph retains its true consonantal force and is treated like any other guttural, e. g., גְּאַלִי, גָּאַל, אָמַר.

Rem. 3. In exceptional cases, Aleph at the end of syllables is treated like firm consonants and receives silent Shewa, e. g., נֶאְדָּר.

Rem. 4. In many cases, Aleph throws back its vowel to the preceding consonant, the Aleph then quiescing in its own vowel. Or, speaking perhaps more correctly, it is still written to show the root, but is ignored utterly as to sound, e. g., מַלְאָכָה for מְלָאכָה, רְאָשִׁים for רָאשִׁים.

Rem. 5. In like manner, also, Aleph sometimes throws back the half-vowel following it, so that it combines with a preceding short vowel to form â, ô, or ê. In the case of וַאֲדֹנָי (and וַיֶהֱוֶה which is pronounced Wăʾdhōnāy) the half-vowel is dropped and the Aleph quiesces in the preceding vowel, e. g., לֵאמֹר for לַאמֹר; יֵאָכֵל for יֶאֱכֵל; יֵאָצֵל for יֶאֱצֵל; יֹאכֵל for יֶאֱכֵל.

Rem. 6. In a few cases, Aleph is dropped, or its place even taken by another vowel letter, e. g, אֹמַר for אָאמַר; מֹאסָר for מֹוסָר; רָאם for רֵים.

Rem. 7. In a few cases, Aleph has been employed apparently as a vowel letter; or superfluously, at the end of a word, perhaps in imitation of the Arabic usage, e. g., קָאם (ordinarily קָם); הָלְכוּא ordinarily without Aleph.

2. Hê is always treated as a consonant, except at the end of a word. At the end of a word, it is usually nothing but a vowel letter; but, when it is used as a consonant, it takes a point in it called Mappik. Final Hê is a consonant only when a radical, or when it represents the suffix "her", e. g., גָּלָה, גָּלֶה, מַלְכָּה, מַלְכָּהּ. But גֵּבַהּ, מַלְכָּהּ.

Rem. 1. The Hê of the article after the inseparable prepositions, and the Hê of the Hiphil, Hophal, Niphal, and Hithpael, stems of the verb after preformatives, throw back their vowel and are dropped, or absorbed, e. g., בַּן for בְּהַן; יַקְטִיל for יְהַקְטִיל; יְהַקְטֵל for יְקַטֵּל; הִנְקְטֵל for יֻקְטַל.

Rem. 2. The Hê of the 3rd. masc. sing. pronominal suffix is usually dropped, the preceding ă and the following û being contracted to ô. The Hê of the suffix of the 3rd. plural masc. and fem. is often absorbed, or dropped, e. g., מַלְכוּ for mălkăhû; מַלְכָּם for mălkăhem.

Rem. 3. In a few cases, the original Wau or Yodh remains at the end of the word, e. g., גָּלוֹ for the more common גָּלָה; הַכִּי for the more common הַכֵּה.

Rem. 4. In a few other cases, apparently through Aramaic influence, the vowel letter Hê is supplanted by Aleph, e. g., שְׁנָא for the ordinary שֵׁנָה from יְשֵׁנָה.

The great [handwritten margin note: is that they contra... to form long vo...]

B. FEEBLENESS OF WAU AND YODH.

1. At the beginning of a word, Wau nearly always is changed into Yodh, e. g., יָרַד, יֶלֶד.

Rem. This Yodh derived from an original Wau, often remains even when not at the beginning of the word, e. g., וַיֵּלֶד for יְוַלֵּד; יִירַשׁ for יְוְרַשׁ.

2. After an inseparable preposition, or a Wau conjunctive, a vowelless Yodh contracts with a preceding Ḥiriḳ to form î.

3. When occurring as a radical at the end of a word, two cases occur (1), Wau and Yodh are usually rejected, their place being taken by the vowel letter Hê, but (2) occasionally, Wau and Yodh remain being changed into the corresponding vowels וֹ and יִ.

4. At the beginning or end of a syllable in the middle of a word, Wau and Yodh are commonly contracted with the vowel of the syllable to which they belong, so that the contractions of w and y may be tabulated as follows:

ăw = ô as in יוֹם from yăwm.
âw = ô as in גְּלוֹ from gălâw.
wă = ô as in נֵקוֹם from năkwăm.
ăwî = ô as in קוֹם from kăwâm.
ăwă = ô as in הָקוֹם from hikkăwăm.

ăy = {ê as in סוּסֵי from sûsăy.
{é as in תִּגְלָיְנָה from tāglăyna.

ăyâ = ô as in שׁוֹם from săyâm.
âyi = â as in שָׂם from sâyim.
yî = î as in יָשִׂים from yăsyîm.
yĭ = î as in יָשִׂים from yăsyĭm.
ĭy = î as in דִּין from dĭyn.
wî = î as in יָקִים from yăkwîm.
ĭw = î as in יִרָא from yĭwră.
ûw = û as in צוּר from ṣûwr.
wŭ = û as in יָקוּם from yakwŭm.
ăwû = û as in גְּלוּ from galăwû.
ŭwû = û as in יִגְלוּ from yaglŭwû (?).

LESSON IX.

THE TONE.

1. Commonly, the tone is upon the ultimate.

Sometimes, however, it is upon the penult; but never upon the antepenult, e. g., נַעַר ,דָּבָר ,מֶלֶךְ ,קָטַל.

Rem. 1. When a closed penult is accented, the ultimate must be open. When a closed ultimate is unaccented the penult must be open, e. g., מֶלֶךְ קֻלּוּ אַרְצָה יֵגֶל.

Rem. 2. Waw conversive, followed by the Imperfect, occasionally draws the accent from the ultimate to the penult, e. g. וַיֵּלֶךְ ,וַיָּשֶׂם ,וַיָּקָם ,וַיִּלָּחֶם ,וַיֹּאמֶר.

Rem. 3. a. A word usually accented on the ultimate, when it happens to be in close connection with a following word accented on the penult, sometimes throws its own accent back to its penult. In such cases, the vowel of the final closed syllable is commonly shortened; except in case of Ṣere, which should, however, receive a Methegh. Wherever a Makkef is inserted between the two words, the accent is always thrown back. (Compare V. 2 and VI. 2 above). See e, f.

b. Whenever the second word is an accented monosyllable connected with the preceding word by Makkef, the accent of the first word is thrown back to the ultimate. See h.

2. In pause, that is, at the end of a sentence, the vowel of the tone syllable, if short, is heightened. See k.

Rem. 1 a. This heightening is usually based upon the original short vowel, i. e. ă becomes ā or é, ŭ becomes ō, and ĭ becomes ē, e. g., קָטֵל from קָטַל; יִקְטְלוּ from יִקְטְלוּ; פְּרִי from פְּרִי; אֶרֶץ from אֶרֶץ, מַלְאוּ from מָלָאוּ; יִתְהַלֵּךְ from יִתְהַלֵּךְ See m, s.

b. But sometimes the ē is heightened, from an ĭ attenuated from an original ă, e. g., דִּבֶּר from דַּבֵּר.

c. Exceptionally, as in the case of אַרְבַּע the original short vowel remains unheightened. See l.

Rem. 2. In pause, בְּךָ becomes בָּךְ; לְךָ, לָךְ; and אֹתְךָ אֹתָךְ. See n.

Rem. 3. In pause, the accent is often changed from the ultimate to the penult, e. g., אַתָּה becomes אָתָּה; or conversely, from the penult to the ultimate, e. g., וַיֵּלֶךְ becomes וַיֵּלַךְ. See o. p.

Rem. 4. Sometimes an original consonant, as well as vowel (the latter heightened), is retained or resumed in pause, e. g., בְּעָיוֹ from original בַּעְיוֹ for later בְּעִי. See t.

Rem. 5. Singular is the reading שָׁבֵלְתִּי in pause for שָׁכֻלְתִּי from original שַׁכֻלְתִּי. Perhaps, there was, also, an original form שָׁכָלְתִּי, which would in pause properly become שָׁכֵלְתִּי. See u.

Rem. 6. An ă preceding a Ḥeth with Ḳames is heightened to Seghol. Thus אַחֵי becomes in pause אֶחֵי; יִתְנַחֵם becomes יִתְנֶחָם. See v.

LESSON X.

THE CHARACTER OF THE VOWELS.

A. GENERAL REMARKS.

The original vowels in Hebrew seem to have been only six in number and all pure. They were ă, ĭ, ŭ, and â, î, û, pronounced as the vowels of at, it, but and băă, ēēn, and shŏŏ. These original pure vowels were liable to the following changes.

1. Obscuring. This is the term employed to denote the change of the original pure ă or ĭ to e, ŭ to ŏ; and ăă to â or ô.

2. Attenuation, which denote the change of original ă to ĭ, e. g., יִקְטֹל from יַקְטֹל.

3. Heightening which denote the change of original ă to ā or é; of original ŭ to ō; and of original ĭ to ē. e. g. אַם, אֵם; יִקְטֹל, יַקְטֵל; אֶרֶץ, אָרֶץ, אָרֶץ, אֶרֶץ. This heightening involves obscuring and lengthening.

4 Lowering is the opposite of heightening and involves obscuring and shortening of the original pure short vowels, until they become indistinguishable one from another. This obscure vowel is represented by Shewa. It may be compared to the obscure vowel of Webster's Dictionary, e. g., יִתְּנוּ from יִתְּנוּ; יִקְטְלוּ from יִקְטְלוּ, דַּבֵּר from דְּבַר.

5. Shortening, which denotes the change from ē to ĕ, and from ō to ŏ, e. g., קְטָלְךָ from קְטֵל; בְּקָרוֹ from בֹּקֶר.

6. Contraction which denote the change resulting from the union of two vowels with one another, or of a vowel with Wau or Yodh, so as to produce one long pure or impure sound, e. g., יַוְם, becomes יוֹם; עַיְן, עֵין; יַאֲמַר, יֹאמַר etc.

7. Lengthening would denote the prolongation of a pure sound without the obscuring of it. No examples of this are found in Hebrew, unless we find one in the long î of the Hiphil coming from an ĭ attenuated from an original ă. Thus, הִקְטִיל, הִקְטֵל, הַקְטֵל.

8. Reversion denotes the return of an obscured, attenuated, heightened, lowered, shortened, or contracted vowel to the original vowel of the form, e. g., in דָּבָר we find the original ă under the second radical instead of the heightened ā of דָּבָר, in כֻּלָּם we have the original ŭ instead of the heightened ō of כֹּל, or the obscured ŏ of כָּל.

B. SPECIAL TREATMENT.

1. Original ăă (pronounced like aa in baa), sometimes becomes obscured to â (pronounced like a in all) as in כָּתַב; but nearly always, it has been further obscured to ô (pronounced like o in note), e. g., the ô of קָטוֹל קֵטֵל, מִזְמוֹר, נִקְטוֹל, etc.

2. Original û remains unchangeable, e. g., קָטוּל.

3. Original î remains unchanged, e. g., צַדִּיק.

4. Original ă (1) remains, as in the ultimate of קֵטֵל and בֹּרֶךְ, and in the penult of נַחַל and צַדִּיק; or,

(2) It is heightened to ā, as in the penult of קָטֵל, and in the ultimate and penultimate of דָּבָר and קְטָלָם; or to é, as in the penult of מֶלֶךְ and יְדְכֶם (?) and פְּרִי.

(3) It is lowered to the half-vowel as with the first radical of דְּבַר (from דָּבָר) and of קְטָלָם (from קָטַלָם) and with the second radical of יְראוּ (from יִירְאוּ) and of דִּבְרֵי (from דְּבָרַי).

(4) It is attenuated to Ḥiriq, as in the penultimate of דִּבְרֵי, יִפֶן, קִטֵּל and יִקְטֹל. It is attenuated and then heightened as in the ultimate of קִטֵּל.

(5) It is contracted to ô, as in יוֹם from יַוְם; or to ê, as in עֵינֵי from עַיְנֵי. An ô from contraction occasionally is changed further into û as in נְקוּמֹת from נְקוֹם.

(6) It is attenuated to ĭ, then heightened to ē, and then shortened to ĕ, as in וַיֵּלֶךְ. This may be called a case of obscuration.

5. Original i (1) remains as in the penult of סִפְרוּ and of אֹיִבְךָ.

(2) Is heightened to ē, as in the penult of סֵפֶר and the ultimate of יִתֵּן.

(3) Is lowered to the half-vowel, as under the first radical of סְפָרִים, and under the second radical of יִתְּנוּ.

(4) Is obscured into Seghol in בֶּן־ תֶּן־ and חֶלְקִי. This obscuration of i takes place also, when the i has been attenuated from an original ă, as in the penult of קְטַלְכֶם.

(5) Is contracted with y to form î, as in דִּין from dĭyn, יָשִׁים from yăsyĭm; and with w to form î, as in יָקִים from yăkwîm.

6. Original ŭ (1) remains, as in the penult of שָׁלְחָן, סָכָּה, and קְטֹל.

(2) Is heightened to ō, as in יִקְטֹל from יַקְטֻל; קֹדֶשׁ from קֻדְשׁ; בָּרַךְ from בָּרֻךְ; בֹּעֲלוֹ from פֻּעֲלוֹ.

(3) Is lowered to the half-vowel, as in יִקְטְלוּ from yăktŭlû.

(4) Is obscured to ŏ, as in כָּל־, יְקַלְתֶּם, יְקָטָלְךָ.

(5) Is contracted with w to form û, as in סוּם from סָוְם; יָקוּם from יַקְוֻם etc.

C. GENERAL REMARKS.

1. The originally long vowels are always unchangeable in inflection. The change from ăă to â, or ô, which has always taken place does not affect any of the present inflections as found in the Bible. Nor do ô and â interchange nor vary in inflection.

2. Vowels which arise by contraction are almost always unchangeable. Sometimes, we find both the uncontracted and the contracted combinations in use, e. g., măwt, in the absolute state, is מָוֶת in the construct מוֹת;
'ayn, in the absolute state is עַיִן in the construct עֵין.

In certain cases, an ô passes over into וֹ, e. g., in נְקוּמֹתָה instead of נְקוֹמֹתָה.

3. In the closed and sharpened syllables, immediately before the tone, the vowel usually remains unchanged in inflection, e. g., in the penult of שֻׁלְחָן, מִזְמוֹר, יִקְטֹל. But notice that in the Piel form of the verb, the perfect is קִטֵּל and the Infinitive construct and other forms have קַטֵּל.

4. The originally short vowels in all open syllables, are subject to heightening, lowering, obscuring, et cet. according to the presence, absence, or nearness of the tone, or stress of voice. In the originally closed syllables, ă may be attenuated or obscured, and ĭ and ŭ may be obscured.

5. In all cases of heightening, or lowering, there may be a reversion to the original vowel, (or its obscured form) or a change from one to the other. Thus one may have ָ , or ַ ֶ , or ֶ ָ , or ָ (ְ) ׃ For example: קָטַל, קְטָלוּ, יְקַטְלֵם, יִקְטְלוּ, יִקְטֹל; אִיבְכֶם, אִיבִי, אֹיֵב; אָחִי, אַחַי, אֲחִי, אָח; קָטְלוּ.

6. (1) In the syllable before the tone an original ă is often heightened into ā, e. g., in בָּרָךְ, קְטָלוּ, דְּבָרִים, דָּבָר, קַטֵל.

(2) Sometimes, an original ă is heightened in the syllable before the tone to é, e. g., in הִטָּהֲרוּ, אָחָד, הֶחָג, אָחִי, בְּחָרֵב.

(3) Sometimes, an original ĭ is heightened before the tone into ē, e. g., in forms like לֵבָב, and כְּבֵדָה, and בֵּרַךְ.

(4) Very seldom, an original ŭ have been heightened before the tone into ō, as in בֹּרַךְ.

Rem. In cases such as בְּרַךְ, בֵּרַךְ, and בֹּרַךְ, the vowel before the tone has been heightened to preserve the form, in asmuch as the r cannot be doubled. In all such cases the heightened vowel remains unchanged in the inflection of the particular form, which it helps to constitute. For example, בֹּרַךְ; בֵּרַךְ, בֹּרְכוּ, בֵּרְכוּ, בֵּרַכְתֶּם, בֵּרַכְכֶם, בָּרְכוֹ, בֵּרְכוֹ; בָּרַךְ, בֹּרְכוֹ, בֹּרַכְתֶּם, בֹּרַכְתֶם. So in nouns פָּרָשׁ (form קָטֵל), חָרָבָה (from שְׁחִֹים (for שִׁחְתִּים) and שְׁחֹרִים (form קַלֶּה), רָעָה (קַטְלָה).

LESSON XI.

CHANGES OF CONSONANTS.

1. Nun at the end of the first syllable of a word is assimilated to the first letter of the following syllable, which is thus doubled. The doubling is, of course, denoted by Dagesh forte.

Rem. 1. The Nun of the preposition מִן is often assimilated to the first letter of the word following it, e. g., מִקּוֹל.

Rem. 2. When the first syllable ends in Nun, because of an inseparable preposition, the Nun is not assimilated, e g., לִנְגֹּף לִנְדֹּר.

Rem. 3. When the Nun is followed by a guttural, or r, which cannot be doubled, the Nun may either remain, or be dropped, and the vowel before it heightened. This vowel will then be unchangeable in the further inflection of the form, e. g., מַחְקִי; מִן־הַבּוֹר; יֵחַתּוּ יֵחַת.

Rem. 4. Occasionally, also, before other consonants, especially dentals, Nun is unassimilated, e. g., יִנְטֹר.

Rem. 5. In the verb נָתַן to give, the last Nun, when it ends the penultimate syllable is assimilated to the first letter of the ultimate, e. g., נָתַתָּ for נָתַנְתָּ.

Rem. 6. Where Nun at the end of a syllable precedes a Nun at the beginning of a syllable of the same word, the Nun is written but once, its doubling being denoted by Dagesh forte, e. g., נָתַנּוּ.

Rem. 7. In the Imperfect Kal of the verb לָקַח to take, the Lamedh is assimilated, when at the end of a syllable, exactly as the Nun of Pê Nun verbs, e. g., יַקַּח, יִקְחוּ.

2. Tau, also, is sometimes assimilated to the following letter, especially when that letter is a dental. In אַחַת one, the ד of אַחַדְתְּ has been dropped before the following ת.

When two Taus come together in inflection, one only is written and receives Dagesh forte, e. g., כָּרַתִּי for כָּרַתְתִּי.

3. In a few cases, Hê is said to be assimilated backwards, i. e., to the letter preceding it, e. g., in קְמָלַתּוּ for קְמָלַתְהוּ; תִּקְטְלָנּוּ for תִּקְטְלָנְהוּ.

4. Such letters as Aleph, Yodh (Wau), Lamedh, and Nun, are sometimes dropped, when they would have but a half vowel after them, e. g., קַח for יְדַע; דַּע for אֲנַחְנוּ; נַחְנוּ for וְעֵדָה; עֵדָה for נְגַשׁ; נַשׁ for לְקַח.

5. a. The vowel of the weak letter Aleph is frequently thrown back on the letter which precedes it, the Aleph quiescing, e. g., לִקְרַאת for לְקָרַאת.

b. In like manner Hê, when it represents the article, or a preformative of the verb, throws back its vowel and disappears altogether, e. g., לַמֶּלֶךְ for לְהַמֶּלֶךְ; and יַקְטִיל for יְהַקְטִיל. Radical Hê probably never thus disappears, not even in Is. 52:14.

c. When Aleph is written and neither preceded nor followed by a vowel, it is said to be otiant. It serves in such cases to show the root, e. g., גֵּיְא, חֵטְא, וַיֵּרָא.

d. Sometimes an Aleph is prefixed, especially before sibilants, to help us to pronounce the word, e. g., אֶזְרוֹעַ instead of זְרוֹעַ. This Aleph is called prosthetic Aleph.
Compare the prefixed Alpha of the Ionic dialect in Greek and the Aleph prosthetic of the Arabic.

6. When the Tau of the Hithpael stem comes before a sibilant, the two letters are transposed. When the sibilant is Ṣadhe, the Tau is not merely transposed but is changed to Ṭeth. See n and Etymology, Lessons X and XII.

Rem. In the only case, where a verb beginning with Zain occurs in the Hithpael in Hebrew, the Tau is assimilated and the Zain doubled.

LESSON XII.

THE RISE OF NEW VOWELS AND SYLLABLES.

1. When a particle with Shewa is prefixed to a word whose first radical has a simple Shewa, the particle commonly takes a Ḥiriq, so as to enable us to pronounce the syllable; since three consonants cannot occur at the beginning of a syllable, e. g., לִבְנֵי.

Rem. 1. If the first letter of the word was an unvowelled Yodh, the Yodh loses its Shewa and quiesces in the preceding Ḥiriq, e. g., בִּימֵי, וִיהִי.

Rem. 2. Sometimes, after the preposition Lamedh, the first consonant of the word loses its half-vowel, the syllable beginning with Lamedh thus becoming closed, e. g., לִתְפֹּשׂ, לְשָׁפֵּךְ.

2. When the first syllable of a word begins with a guttural with a compound Shewa, the inseparable particle takes the corresponding short vowel, e. g., וַאֲרִי, לֶאֱכֹל, בְּעָנִי.

Rem. 1. Sometimes, in such cases, the particle seems to have taken (or retained) the vowel corresponding to the compound Shewa, and then the compound Shewa has been changed to a silent one, e. g., in לֶאְסֹר. So, often, with preformatives, e. g., נַחְתּוֹם, יַחְסָר, נֶהְפַּךְ.

Rem. 2. To be noted are the verbs הָיָה to be and חָיָה to live, the first consonant of whose root is wont to close the first syllable after a prefix of any kind, e. g., לִהְיוֹת, מֶהְיוֹת, וֶחְיוּ, וֶהְיָה. This is true in the case of these two verbs after preformatives as well as after prefixes, e. g., נְהָיָה ,יְהָיָה. The Methegh in these instances denotes that the syllable is closed. See V, 2, Rem. 3 (5) above.

3. When a compound Shewa would come before another Shewa, it is changed to the corresponding short vowel. See c. The reason for this is that a vocal Shewa cannot end a syllable, nor two Shewas begin one.

4. At the end of a word, we sometimes find two consonants ending apparently the syllable. The second of these consonants is nearly always ב, ד, כ, ק, ת, or ט. (פ is found once, to wit, in Prov. 30:6). It is open to discussion whether the latter of the Shewas is vocal, or silent. It seems impossible to pronounce the last consonant without a short vowel sound after it, somewhat like the final e muet in French. See d.

5. Generally, however, a so-called helping vowel is inserted between two final unvowelled consonants. This vowel is always short and is ordinarily Seghol. But note,

(1) When one of the two consonants is a guttural, the helping vowel is Pathaḥ, e. g., קֶמַח, יַחַר.

(2) When one of the two consonants is Yodh, the helping vowel is Ḥiriq, e. g., עַיִן. When the second of the two consonants is Yodh, the Ḥiriq contracts with it as in פְּרִי for פֶּרְי.

(3) When the last consonant of the word is Wau, the helping vowel is ŭ, which combines with the Wau to form Shureq, e. g. בֹּהוּ.

Rem. In the second feminine singular of the perfect of a verb, whose last radical is a guttural, a helping Pathah is inserted after the guttural before the sufformative תְּ. This Pathah does not aspirate the following תְּ. It is doubtful, whether the Dagesh of this Tau is Dagesh lene or Dagesh forte, e. g., שָׁמַעַתְּ.

B. ETYMOLOGY.

LESSON I.

1. THE INSEPARABLE PREPOSITIONS.

1. The last consonant of the preposition מִן is commonly assimilated to the first consonant of the following word, e. g., מִבַּיִת but מִן־שָׂרָיו.

Rem. 1. If the following consonant is a Yodh with Shewa, the Yodh is not doubled but quiesces in the preceding Ḥiriq, e. g., מִימֵי.

Rem. 2. When the first letter of the word, which מִן precedes, is a guttural, the following cases arise: —

(a) Before א and ע and ר, the Hiriq of the preposition is usually heightened to Ṣere, the Nun disappearing, e. g., מֵעִיר, מֵראֹש, מֵאִישׁ; but מִן־עֶדְךָ.

(b) Before ה and ח, (1) the Ḥiriq remains, the Nun disappears, and the guttural is said by grammarians to be implicitly doubled, e. g., מֵהְיוֹת, מֵחוּץ.

(2) מִן remains in full and is followed by Makkef, e. g., מִן־הָאָרֶץ.

(3) The Nun is dropped and the vowel heightened to ē, e. g., מֵהַגּוּלָה, מֵחַלָּב, מֵחָקְקִי.

Rem. 3. Sometimes, letters followed by a half-vowel are not doubled, but the preceding vowel remains short, the syllable being half-open, e. g., מְשַׁמַּנֵּי.

2. The prepositions בְּ, כְּ, and לְ had originally, doubtless, the short vowel ă. This vowel has been changed as follows.

a. Before a consonant with a vowel, it is lowered to the half-vowel, denoted by simple Shewa, e. g., לְבֵית, בְּכָל־, בְּצוּרִם.

b. Before a consonant with simple Shewa, it is attenuated to Ḥiriq, e. g., לִפְנֵי, בִּשְׁמִי.

c. Before a consonant with compound Shewa, it becomes the corresponding short vowel. בֶּעֱנִי, לֶאֱכֹל, כַּאֲרִי.

d. Before an unvowelled Yodh, the preposition receives a Ḥiriq in which the Yodh quiesces, and in consequence drops its Shewa, e. g., בִּימֵי.

e. When אֱלֹהִים is preceded by an inseparable preposition, the preposition takes Ṣere; in which the Aleph quiesces, e. g., כֵּאלֹהִים, לֵאלֹהִים, בֵּאלֹהִים, Lamedh, in like manner, takes Ṣere before אֱמֹר and we get לֵאמֹר.

f. Immediately before an accented syllable, the prepositions sometimes receive a pretonic Qameṣ, e. g., לָלֶכֶת, לָהֶם.

g. Before the interrogative מה what?, בְּ and כְּ receive Pathah and the מ is doubled; but לְ takes Qameṣ and the מ is doubled, e. g., בַּמֶּה, לָמָה.

h. Before אֲדֹנָי Lord, the prepositions בְּ, כְּ, and לְ take Pathah in which Aleph quiesces, e. g., לַאדֹנָי. The tetragrammaton יהוה takes the same pointing, but is read as if אֲדֹנָי. After מִן, we have מֵאֲדֹנָי and מֵיְהוָה, or מֵיהוָה.

2. THE CONJUNCTION WAU.

(1) The conjunction Wau and is ordinarily pronounced with a half-vowel, which is denoted by Shewa, e. g., וְאַתָּה.

(2) But before a guttural with a compound Shewa, it takes the corresponding short vowel, e. g., וֶאֱכֹל, וַחֲלִי, וַאֲנִי.

Rem. 1. But before אֱלֹהִים, Wau takes Ṣere, in which the Aleph quiesces, thus resulting in וֵאלֹהִים. Before אֲדֹנָי, the Wau receives Pathah in which the Aleph quiesces, thus resulting in וַאדֹנָי (and וַיְהוָה).

Rem. 2. When a guttural after Wau receives a silent Shewa, the Wau takes the vowel corresponding to the compound Shewa which the guttural would regularly have received, e. g., וֶהְיָה instead of וְהְיָה.

(3) Before a consonant with a half-vowel, and also before the labials, Wau becomes Shureq, i. e. w is changed to û, because the latter is more easy to pronounce, e. g., וּפֶן, וּמֶן, וּבֵין, וּלְכֹל.

(4) Before an unvowelled Yodh, the conjunction receives a Ḥiriq, in which the Yodh quiesces, or rather, with which it contracts to form î, e. g., וִיהִי for וְיְהִי.

The Wau receives Ḥiriq, also, before some forms of הָיָה to be, e. g., וִיהִי, see Lesson XLVI.

(5) Before the accented syllable, even when it begins with a labial, the Wau often receives a pretonic Qameṣ, e. g., וָמַתִּי ,וְבִשְׁתָּ ,וְשָׁבַע ,וָשֵׁשׁ ,וָחַי.

3. THE ARTICLE.

(1) The definite article Hê, which perhaps is derived from an original Hal, takes ordinarily the vowel Pathah, the following consonant being doubled, perhaps on account of the assimilated l of the original Hal., e. g., הַמֶּלֶךְ.

(2) When, however, the consonant following the article has a half-vowel after it (denoted, of course, by Shewa), it is frequently not doubled, especially if this consonant be Yodh, or one of the liquids l, m, or n, e. g., הַיְקוּם, הַנְבֵלָה, הַמְלָאכָה, הַלְאָמִּים.

Rem. When followed by ה or ע, an unvowelled Yodh, or Mem, is doubled, e. g., הַמְּהוּמָה, הַמְּעִיל, הַיְּעָרִים, הַיְּהוּדִי. Mem is doubled, also, in many other cases, e. g., הַמְּאֹרֹת, הַמְּקֹמוֹת, הַמְּלָכִים. Lamedh, also, is doubled in הַלְּשָׁכוֹת.

(3) Before the gutturals and Resh, which cannot be doubled, the article takes the following pointings.

a. Before Aleph and Resh, the Pathah is always heightened to Qameṣ, e. g., הָרְפָאִים, הָאֲבָרִים, הָרֶגֶל, הָאָם.

b. Before Hê, there are three usages.

1. Pathah commonly remains, e. g. הָהָרוֹן, הַהֶבֶל, הַהוּא.
2. Pathah is heightened to Qameṣ, e. g., הָהָר, הָהֵם, הָהֵנָּה.
3. Pathah is heightened to Seghol, but only when the Hê following the article is followed by a pretonic Qameṣ, e. g., הֶהָרִים, הֶהָמוֹן, הֶהָדָר.

c. Before Ḥeth, there are, also, three usages.

1. Pathah commonly remains, e. g., הַחָרְבָּה, הַחַטָּא, הַחֵבֶל.
2. Pathah is heightened to Qameṣ (very infrequent), e. g., הָחַי.
3. Pathah is heightened to Seghol, but only when the Ḥeth has Qameṣ, or Ḥatef-Qameṣ, e. g., הֶחָדָשׁ, הֶחֳרָב (pausal form for הֳחֳרֵב), הָחָי (pausal form for הֳחֳלִי), הֶחֳלִי, הֶחֳרָבוֹת (pausal form for הֳחֳרֵב).

d. Before Ayin, there are two usages.

1. Ordinarily Pathaḥ is heightened to Qameṣ, e. g., הָעֶצֶב.

2. But when the Ayin is followed by pretonic Qameṣ, the Pathaḥ in heightened to Seghol, e. g., הֶעָפָר, הֶעָנָן, הֶעָרִים.

(4) When preceded by the article, the vowel or half-vowel of the first radical of the following six words becomes Qameṣ, to wit: אֶרֶץ earth (from original אֲרֶץ), הַר mountain, עַם people, פַּר young bull, חַג pilgrimage, and אֲרוֹן ark, become respectively הֶחָג, הַפָּר, הָעָם, הָהָר, הָאָרֶץ, and הָאָרוֹן.

(5) When the inseparable prepositions precede a word with the article, they assume the pointing of the article, the Hê being dropped, e. g., כַּכְּפִיר, בֶּעָפָר, בָּאָרֶץ, כַּמֶּלֶךְ.

Note 1. The interrogative מָה takes the pointings of the article, to wit:

1. Before most letters, it is pointed מַה, being followed by Makkef and the next letter taking Dagesh forte, e. g., מַה־יִּקְרָא, מַה־לְּךָ.

2. Before Aleph, Hê, Ayin and Resh it takes Qameṣ, e. g., מָה רָאָה; מָה עָשָׂה; מָה־הָעֵרָבוֹן; מָה אֹמַר.

Note 2. The Wau conversive with the Imperfect takes the pointings of the article.

1. Usually Pathaḥ followed by Dagesh forte, e. g., וַנִּקְטֹל, וַתִּקְטֹל, וַיִּקְטֹל.

2. But before the Aleph of the first person singular the Pathaḥ is heightened to Qameṣ, e. g., וַאֲקַטֵּל, וָאָקְטֹל.

3. But when Yodh, or Nun, loses its vowel and has nothing but a half-vowel, the Dagesh is dropped, e. g., וַנְּקַטֵּל, וַיְקַמְּהוּ, וַיְּכַל, וַיְקַטֵּל, וַיְהִי.

LESSON II.

THE PERSONAL PRONOUNS.

1. In pause, אָנֹכִי throws the accent back to the penult; אֲנִי changes the Ḥateph-Pathaḥ to an accented ā; אַתָּה throws the accent to the penult and heightens the ă to ā; אַתְּ heightens ă to ā; and נַחְנוּ and אֲנַחְנוּ heighten the ă of the penult to ā.

See tables at end of the book.

2. Shortened forms of the personal pronouns are commonly employed for the genitive and accusative, i. e. for what we call the possessive and objective pronouns. These forms are affixed to the end of the noun, or verb, and are called pronominal suffixes, or simply suffixes. In general, the suffixes for verb and noun are the same, except for the first person singular. The connection between suffixes and independent pronouns is obvious, except in the second person where t changes into k.

3. Note that some of the pronouns have two forms.

INFLECTION OF THE NOUN.

A. GENERAL REMARKS.

1. The noun in Hebrew has three numbers, singular, dual, and plural, e. g., יָד hand, יָדַיִם two hands, יָדוֹת hands.

Rem. The adjective has no dual. When the noun is dual the adjective is plural, e. g., הָרַגְלַיִם הַטּוֹבוֹת the two good feet.

2. Nouns and adjectives have two genders, — masculine and feminine, e. g. טוֹב good, fem. טוֹבָה; מֶלֶךְ king, fem. מַלְכָּה queen; masc. plur., טוֹבִים, fem. plur., טוֹבוֹת.

3. Nouns and adjectives have two forms, called the absolute state and the construct state. The absolute state, only, may stand alone, or take the article, e. g., מֶלֶךְ a king, הַמֶּלֶךְ the king, מְלָכִים kings, הַמְּלָכִים the kings.

The noun in the construct never takes the article and is always followed immediately by another noun in what we would call the genitive case, e. g., מֶלֶךְ הָעִיר the king of the city; מַלְכֵי הָאָרֶץ the kings of the land.

From the very nature and use of the noun in the construct state, it is always as short as possible, i. e., as short as the possible changes of the Hebrew vowels by way of lowering, attenuating, contraction, and reversion, (See Orthography Lesson X above) will allow. In accordance with the laws of pronunciation, of derivation, of accent and of the syllable, e. g., גְּדֹלוֹת, גְּדֹלַת, גָּדוֹל, דְּבָרֵי, דְּבַר, are all as short as they can be, and get accents, syllables, laws of vowel changes, and forms of noun are all preserved intact. Nouns accented on the penult like מֶלֶךְ are no exception to this rule, since the final vowel is inserted merely to assist in the pronunciation and the ă is heightened with the accent to é.   קְטֵל is no exception, since you cannot have a short vowel, other than ă, in the ultimate.

4. Naturally long vowels, (that is, those which were originally long, or those which have been contracted) remain unchanged in inflection. But any vowel which was originally short is subject to changes caused by height-ening, lowering, attenuation, obscuration, reversion, or contraction.

5. There are no endings for the masculine singular.
In the masculine plural the endings are יִם. for the absolute state and יֵ ֫ for the construct.

For the feminine singular the endings are ָה for the absolute state and ַת for the construct. In the feminine plural the ending is וֹת for both states. e. g. טוֹב, טוֹב; טוֹבִים, טוֹבוֹת, טוֹבוֹת; טוֹבַת, טוֹבָה; טוֹבַי.

6. In connecting the suffixes with the singular noun two different union vowels are employed, to wit: ĭ and ă.
The former appears heightened into ē in סוּסָךְ and סוּסֵנוּ, סוּסָתִי and סוּסָתֵנוּ; and contracted into י. in סוּסִי, סוּסָתְךָ.
The latter in its heightened forms in סוּסָם, סוּסָן and in the pausal form סוּסָךְ; in its lowered form in סוּסָךְ, סוּסְכֶם, and סוּסְכֶן; and in its contracted form in סוּסוֹ from סוּסֵהוּ, and סוּסָהּ from סוּסָהָ. So, also, in סוּסָתָם etc., סוּסַתְכֶם etc.

Rem. The feminine singular simply places ת ָ between the masculine form and the suffixes, the ă remaining before כֶם and כֶן, the so called grave suffixes, and being heightened to ā elsewhere.

7. The original form of the construct plural masculine ending was ַי, contracted later into ָי. This original ַי remains before ךָ, a helping vowel Ḥiriq being given to the Yodh, e. g., סוּסַיִךְ. But, before the other suffixes ַי is contracted into ָי, as before נוּ, כֶם, כֶן, הֶם, and הֶן; or to ָי, as before הָ and ךָ; or ָי, as in סוּסַי for סוּסָיי; or, into יו ָ, as in סוּסָיו from סוּסָיו from סוּסָיהוּ.

8. The feminine plural inserts the construct ending of the masculine between it and the suffixes with the same contractions and results, as if it were the masculine, e. g., סוּסֹתַי, סוּסֹתָיו, סוּסֹתָיִךְ, סוּסֹתְכֶם.

B. SPECIAL REMARKS.

1. To many forms of words ending in vowels, the suffixes are appended directly.

2. Sometimes, הוּ was joined with the noun by means of Ṣere, in which case no contraction takes place, e. g., מִינֵהוּ, אוֹרֵהוּ.

3. The following unusual forms are to be noted: ה written instead of וּ; נוּ ָ for נוּ ָ, as in כָּלָּנוּ; מוֹ for הֶם; and ךְ ָ for יְךְ .

THE INFLECTION OF UNCHANGEABLE NOUNS.

A B MASCULINE.

1. By an unchangeable masculine noun is meant one whose absolute singular form remains unchanged before all endings.

Rem. 1. In a few cases, where the singular of the noun is unchangeable, the plural in use has been formed from an earlier uncontracted form or possibly from another singular, e. g., שׁוֹר contracted from שַׁוְר, plural שְׁוָרִים; עִיר, עָרִים.

2. One may treat as unchangeable

(1) All monosyllables having in the absolute singular an î, or an û; and those in a, e and o which are derived from roots whose second radical is Wau, or Yodh, e. g., כְּרוּב, כְּסִיל and סוּף. Also forms like חַיִל, עֵד, קָם, חוּג, רִיב, בְּכוֹר, whose first radical was originally ĭ or ŭ. Also זְאֵב wolf.

Rem. The plural of some nouns with a masculine form has the feminine form, e. g., רוּחוֹת, רוּחַ; חוּצוֹת, חוּץ. Whether the noun in such cases is really masculine, or feminine, can be determined only by observing whether the verbs and adjectives agreeing with it are masculine or feminine,
e. g., הָרוּחוֹת הַטּוֹבוֹת; but הַמְּאוֹרוֹת הַגְּדֹלִים; הַמְּקוֹמוֹת הָרְחֹקִים.

(2) Dissyllables, having a naturally long vowel in the ultimate and the first syllable closed, e. g., חַלּוֹן, גִּבּוֹר, צַדִּיק, מַלְקוֹחַ, מִזְמוֹר, אַהֲרֹן, רֵאשׁוֹן, אָבִיוֹן and מַצָּה, פִּקּוּד, עַמּוּד, מִישׁר.

Rem. When the second radical of such forms was a guttural, or Resh, the preceding vowel is heightened and remains unchangeable, e. g., פָּרָשׁ, סָרִיס, plural פָּרָשִׁים and סָרִיסִים.

(3) Words ending in a guttural take compound Shewa prefore קֶ, כֶם and בֶן, e. g. מַבֶּחַךְ, בְּרִיחֲכֶם, רֵעֶךָ, רוּחֲךָ. In pause, רוּחֶךָ etc.

Rem. 1. Ability to tell whether a final a or o is unchangeable will only come in two ways (1) by a knowledge of the original noun form and (2) by observation of the actual use. A thorough knowledge of the first of these ways comes only from a study of comparative Semitics; a knowledge of the second can be gained from a good Hebrew concordance, provided that the Bible happens to contain a form, like the construct plural, which commonly requires a change. With all the means at our disposal, there is still room at times for doubt.

Rem. 2. In the adjective רַע the vowel is heightened to ָ before all endings, e. g., רָעִים.

C D FEMININE.

1. By an unchangeable feminine noun is meant one which changes the sufformative of gender only in inflection, e. g., סוּס—וֹת, סוּס—ַת, סוּס—ָה.

Rem. 1. In the case of the singular of the noun before the suffixes, the original feminine ending ַת is retained before כֶם and כֶן, the ă being heightened to ā before all other suffixes, e. g., סוּסַתְכֶם, but סוּסָתוֹ.

Rem. 2. The feminine plural of these nouns is unchangeable for all states and in all inflections, e. g., סוּסוֹת, סוּסוֹתֵיכֶם, סוּסוֹתָיו.

2. Among unchangeable feminine nouns may be reckoned the following:

(1) The feminine forms of all unchangeable masculine forms, e. g., הָרְבָה (hărrâvăh) צַדִּיקָה, שִׁירָה, סוּסָה, טוֹבָה, מַתָּה, קָמָה, אִימָה, חַבּוּרָה, (מַטָּחָה), (from אִימָה).

(2) Those whose second radical is doubled before the feminine ending, e. g., תְּהִלָּה, מְסִלָּה, חִקָּה, זִמָּה, כַּלָּה.

Rem. When the second radical is a guttural, or Resh, the preceding consonant takes a heightened unchangeable vowel, e. g., מְעָרָה, צָרָה.

(3) Those whose third radical is doubled before endings in order to preserve the original form, e. g., קְטַנָּה, עֲמְקָה, כְּלִמָּה.

Rem. When the third radical is a guttural, the preceding vowel is heightened and unchangeable, e. g., גְּבֹהָה.

(4) All additional dissyllables whose penult is unchangeable, e. g., מְנוּחָה, פְּלֵיטָה, גְּלִיָה, גּוְיָה, יְשׁוּעָה, יְרִיעָה, גְּדוֹלָה, תְּשׁוּקָה, תִּקְוָה, תּוֹרָה, מִצְוָה, מְנוֹרָה, מְדִינָה.

Rem. The ā of גָּלוּת remains unchanged both in the construct and before suffixes, e. g. גָּלוּתִי, לְגָלוּת הַמֶּלֶךְ.

LESSON IV.

MASCULINE NOUNS WHICH HAD ORIGINALLY TWO SHORT VOWELS BOTH CHANGEABLE.

1. It may be observed first of all that the general rule for all nouns is, that they are as long as possible in the absolute state, and as short as possible in the construct. By possible, is here meant as long and as short as the rules of the Hebrew language for syllables and vowel changes will allow. Thus, for example, in the case of דָּבָר word, the original dăvăr becomes in the absolute state dāvār, each vowel having been made as long as it is possible in Hebrew to make it. In the construct state, it becomes dᵉvăr, a word of one syllable and the shortest possible form in which the combination of consonants can be pronounced; and yet at the same time, the original form is perfectly clear, the ă of the ultimate having been retained (or recovered by reversion), and the ă of the penult lowered.

In the case of the plural, also, the absolute דְּבָרִים is as long as possible in accordance with the Hebrew rule which permits of the heightening of but one vowel before the tone and of the other rule which forbids a short vowel in an open unaccented syllable.

Note. דְּבָרִים would have been equally in harmony with the rule above given. But the heightening of the second original vowel before the primary accent is a characteristic of the verb, as in קָטְלוּ from kătălû. This variation between the noun and the verb in regard to the vowel heightened is probably for the sake of differentiation.

The construct plural was originally dăvărăy. The final ăy contracts to יִ ., the ultimate ă is lowered, and the original penultimate ă is either retained, or attenuated to ĭ*.

* No rule can be given as to when the original ă is to be retained and when attenuated. See Stade's Hebräische Grammatik, where a complete induction of examples is made without any reason for the difference in use being found.

The student will see for himself, that it is impossible to shorten דְּבָרַי, and yet all of the original vowels have been retained, the last contracted, the next lowered and the first attenuated.

2. In the construct singular of nouns whose last radical is Aleph, the ultimate ă is heightened to ā, because a short vowel cannot stand at the end of a word; and the Aleph here having lost all consonantal form, the ă must in consequence be heightened, e. g., צְבָא.

3. When a radical is a guttural, it takes a compound Shewa wherever other consonants would take a simple Shewa, e. g., רְשָׁעֲכֶם, נְהֲרֵי, עֲשַׁן.

Note, that the plural of nouns which had originally one short vowel, is the same as the ordinary plural of nouns which had originally two short vowels, e. g., נְעָרִים, נְעָרֵי from נַעַר (originally năʻr), just like נְהָרִים, נְהָרֵי from נָהָר (originally năhăr).

4. A few nouns which had originally two short a vowels, double the final consonant before sufformatives and suffixes, instead of heightening and lowering the original vowels, e. g., qătăn becomes קְטַנּוֹת, קְטַנֵּי, קְטַנּוּ, קְטַנִּים etc.

5. Nouns which had originally the form Kătŭl, heighten both vowels in the absolute state, e. g., נָקֹד. The only construct singular of this form found in the Bible is קְטֹן. Before sufformatives and suffixes of this form, the vowel of the ultimate is retained in its original state, and the last consonant is doubled, e. g. נְקֻדָּה, נְקֻדִּים, נְקֻדּוֹ etc.

Rem. When the last consonant is a guttural, or Resh, the ŭ is heightened by way of compensation. This heightened ō remains in all forms before sufformatives and suffixes, e. g., שְׁחֹרוּת, שְׁחֹרִים, שְׁחֹרָה.

6. Nouns whose vowels were original ă—ĭ, heighten both vowels in the absolute singular, e. g., זָקֵן. The construct singular ·is generally like זְקַן, but sometimes like יָרֵךְ, and with final Aleph like מְלֵא. Before all light suffixes both for singular and plural, the form is זְקַנ; and also before all sufformatives for gender and number, except the construct plural, — and here also sometimes, when the third radical is Aleph.

Rem. The adjective אַחֵר retains the ă of the penult unheightened in the absolute singular, both masculine and feminine, but in the plural, it becomes Ḥaṭef-Pathaḥ, e. g., אֲחֵרוֹת, אֲחֵרִים, אַחֶרֶת.

LESSON V.

SEGHOLATE NOUNS.

In its broadest sense, all nouns which take a helping vowel ĕ to aid in the pronunciation of the last two consonants should be called segholates, whether these nouns be masculine, or feminine, or had originally one or more vowels. Most grammarians use the word, however, for nouns which had originally one short vowel, and even without regard to the question as to whether the helping vowel is really a Seghol at all. In this and the following lessons, we shall treat of nouns which had originally one short vowel and of the changes which this vowel has undergone in process of time, through heightening, attenuation, contraction etc.

1. The first class of nouns which had originally one short vowel is composed of those nouns which had ă after the first radical. While the noun still had its case endings, this would be for the nominative mălkŭ, for the genitive mălkĭ, for the accusative mălkă. When these case endings were dropped, the ă was commonly heightened to é and a helping vowel was given to the second radical. This helping vowel is commonly ĕ, e. g., mălk becomes מֶלֶךְ.

2. But when the second radical is a guttural, the ă after the first radical is retained and the helping vowel, also, is ă, e. g., נַעַר. When the third radical is a guttural the original ă is heightened to é, but the helping vowel is ă, e. g., זֶרַע.

3. The construct singular is the same as the absolute.

4. Before all suffixes the singular has the form mălk, e. g., מַלְכּוֹ, מַלְכְּכֶם. But when the second, or third, radical is a guttural, the following variations occur.

(1) Where the strong letters have vocal Shewa the gutturals take a compound Shewa, e. g., חֲסָדִים, גַּעֲרוּ, זַרְעֲכֶם.

(2) Wherever the presence of a guttural would cause a compound Shewa to come before another Shewa, the compound Shewa is changed into the corresponding short vowel, e. g., נֶעֶרְךָ, נֶעֶרְכֶם.

(3) Where the first or second radical is a guttural, Pathaḥ occurs under the first radical in the construct plural, e. g., נַעֲרֵי, חַסְדֵי.

5. Notice especially that the plurals of nouns of this class are exactly the same as if the nouns had had originally two short vowels, i. e., they are exactly like those in Lesson IV, e. g.,

Original form of singular	dăvăr	mălk	hăkăm	hasd	năhăr	năʿr
Absolute sing.	דָּבָר	מֶלֶךְ	חָכָם	חָסָד	נָהָר	נַעַר
„ plural	דְּבָרִים	מְלָכִים	חֲכָמִים	חֲסָדִים	נְהָרִים	נְעָרִים
Construct „	דִּבְרֵי	מַלְכֵי	חַכְמֵי	חַסְדֵי	נַהֲרֵי	נַעֲרֵי
With light suff.	דְּבָרָיו	מְלָכָיו	חֲכָמָיו	חֲסָדָיו	נְהָרָיו	נְעָרָיו
With grave suff.	דִּבְרֵיכֶם	מַלְכֵיכֶם	חַכְמֵיכֶם	חַסְדֵיכֶם	נַהֲרֵיכֶם	נַעֲרֵיכֶם

Rem. עֶשְׂרִים twenty is formed from עֶשֶׂר ten (ăsr) by appending the plural ending to the original form of the singular, ă being changed to ĕ on account of the guttural. רַחֲמִים mercy, is formed in like manner from רַחַם. So, רַחֲמָיו his mercy.

6. The dual, however, is formed regularly from the original form mălk by appending the ordinary dual ending ăyim, e. g., מַלְכַּיִם, מַלְכָּיו, מַלְכֵּי, מַלְכֵּיכֶם. Also רַגְלַיִם, נַעֲלַיִם, קַרְנַיִם.

Rem. 1. When the second radical is a guttural, it takes compound Shewa under it.

Rem. 2. Of unusual formation, is the dual דְּלָתַיִם doors from דֶּלֶת.

7. Before suffixes, and in the construct plural, the original ă is often attenuated to Ḥiriq, e. g., פִּשְׁעִי, פִּשְׁעוֹ. When it is to be thus changed is a matter of observation, since no rule seems to cover the cases of change.

8. In pauses, the ă, (or é), of the penult of both singular and dual is heightened to ā, e. g., נְעָרִים, חָדָר‍꞉. When the first letter of the singular is Ḥeth with Qameṣ, the article takes Seghol, e. g., הֶחָדָר but הֶחָדָר.

9. The inseparable prepositions may take a pretonic Qameṣ before a segholate in the absolute state without the article, e. g., לָנֶצַח.

10. When אֶרֶץ earth takes the article, it heightens the original ă to ā, e. g., הָאָרֶץ.

LESSON VI.

NOUNS WHICH HAD ORIGINALLY A SHORT I OR U.

1. The second class of nouns with one short vowel consists of those which had originally a short i. In the singular before suffixes, this i commonly remains; but elsewhere it is heightened to ē, e. g., סִפְרוֹ but סֵפֶר.

Rem. Where the first radical is a guttural the i, in forms with suffixes, is commonly obscured to ě, e. g., חֶלְקִי, עֶזְרֵנוּ.

2. The third class of nouns with one short vowel consists of those which had originally a vowel ŭ. This ŭ is commonly obscured to ŏ in closed syllables, and heightened to ō in open syllables, e. g., בָּקָר, בָּקְרוֹ; but exceptionally ŭ remains as in גְּדֻלוֹ. When the second radical is a guttural it takes Ḥatef-Qameṣ, e. g., פָּעֳלוֹ. Before grave suffixes this Ḥatef-Qameṣ becomes ŏ, e. g., פָּעְלְכֶם.

3. In both of these classes, the helping vowel is ordinarily Seghol, e. g., קֹדֶשׁ; but when the second or third radical is a guttural, the helping vowel is ă, e. g., נֶצַח, אֹרַח, פֹּעַל.

4. When the third radical is a guttural, it takes compound Shewa, where other consonants take simple Shewa, e. g., נִצְחֲכֶם.

5. Singular is the noun חֲטָא whose final letter is otiant. Its plural construct is חֲטָאֵי.

6. The plural absolute of nouns in ĭ and ŭ is commonly exactly like the plurals of those in a. (See lesson V. above.) The construct plural, however, has ordinarily ĭ under the first radical for nouns whose original vowel was ĭ; and ŏ obscured from ŭ for those whose original vowel was ŭ.

Rem. 1. Where the first, or second, radical is a guttural, nouns whose original vowel was ĭ, obscured it to ĕ in the construct plural, e. g., עֶגְלֵי.

Rem. 2. In the plural of שֶׁרֶשׁ from šŭrš and קֹדֶשׁ from kŭdš, the original ŭ obscured to ŏ is retained under the first radical; in the plural of אֹהֶל from 'ŭhl, it is heightened to ō. The resultant forms are אֹהָלִים, קֳדָשִׁים, שֳרָשִׁים. In the plural of חֹדֶשׁ from hŭdš, it is lowered to the compound Shewa and we get as a result חֳדָשִׁים.

Note: But with the article we find: הַקֳּדָשִׁים and הָאֹהָלִים; and with suffixes אֹהָלֶיךָ, אָהֳלֵיךָ, קֳדָשַׁיִךְ, קֳדָשֶׁיךָ and קֳדָשָׁיו (but once מֵאָהֳלֵיךָ).

LESSON VII.

NOUNS WITH MIDDLE, OR LAST, RADICAL WAU OR YODH.

1. In the absolute singular, some nouns with middle Yodh, preserve the original ă under the first radical and give the helping vowel ĭ to the second radical, e. g., אַיִל, צַיִד, קַיִץ, עַיִן, לַיִל, לֵיל, חַיִל, זַיִת, בַּיִת, אַיִן.

Rem. 1. In the construct of all of these, the ăy contracts into ê, which is unchangeable in the singular before suffixes, e. g., זֵית, זֵיתוֹ, זֵיתְכֶם.

Rem. 2. The plurals are of great variety, e. g., אֵילִים, חֲיָלִים (dual עֵינַיִם), עֵינוֹת, לֵילוֹת, בָּתִּים, זֵיתִים. Of some, no plurals are found, e. g., קַיִץ, עַיִן, אַיִן, and צַיִד.

Rem. 3. In sporadic cases the contraction took place even in the absolute singular and the noun became unchangeable, e. g., חַיִל (See Lesson III above).

Rem. 4. גַּיְא in the absolute singular preserves the original ă and the Aleph becomes otiant. The construct is גֵּיְא.

Rem. 5. לַיְל night usually takes an unaccented הָ at the end of the absolute singular.

2. Nouns with middle Yodh whose original vowel was ĭ contracted the ĭ and Yodh into unchangeable î and come under lesson III, e. g., שִׁיר, אִישׁ, דִּין, הִין(?), חִיל, מִין(?), רִיב, עִיר, סִיר.

3. Nouns with middle Wau of the first class (1) heighten in the absolute state the ă to ā and take the helping vowel Seghol, e. g., תָּוֶךְ, עָוֶל, מָוֶת, אָוֶן. In the construct, the ă and Wau contract into ֹו except in עָוֶל whose construct is עֲוֹל.

Rem. שָׁוְא heightens the ă but has otiant Aleph and no helping vowel.

(2) Contract the ă and Wau into ô, which remains unchangeable in the singular, e. g., אוֹר, אוֹת, בּוֹר, גּוֹי, דּוֹר, תּוֹר, שׁוֹר, שׁוֹק, קוֹל, עוֹר, עוֹף, עוֹד, סוֹף(?), כּוֹס, יוֹם, הוֹן, דּוֹר. See lesson III above).

(3) In the construct and plural the ă and w han contracted into unchangeable ô; except in a few nouns like שְׁוָקִים streets and שְׁוָרִים oxen and יָמִים days, the former two of which are regular in the plural.

4. When the second radical is Wau and the original short vowel was ŭ, the ŭ and the w contract into an unchangeable û and the noun comes under the class of unchangeable nouns mentioned in Lesson III, e. g., טוּב, חוּץ, שׁוּר, רוּחַ, צוּר(?), סוּף(?), מוּל, לוּחַ(?), טוּר.

5. Nouns whose last radical is Yodh commonly lower the vowel of the first radical and retain only the helping vowel i of the second radical in which the Yodh quiesces, or better with which it contracts, e. g., מְרִי, כְּלִי, בְּלִי, בְּכִי, פְּרִי, פְּתִי, צְבִי, שְׁבִי, or with compound Shewa under the first radical חֲצִי, עֲנִי, יְפִי, חֲלִי, אֲרִי.

Rem. 1. The plurals of these nouns are mostly regular, e. g., חֲלָיִים; but כְּלִי has בַּלִּים, כְּלֵי and פְּתִי has פְּתָאִים and צְבִי, צְבָאִים. In these two last it is likely that Aleph was pronounced as y, as it often is in Syriac.

Rem. 2. אַי seems to be contracted from 'iwy and in the plural becomes אִיִּים.

6. Nouns with final Wau are either regular or the Wau contracts with the helping vowel to form û, e. g., תֹּהוּ, בֹּהוּ, קָצֵוּ.

Rem. Sometimes, the final Wau or Yodh has been elided, e. g., אָח, שֵׁם, עַל, עַד, מִן, יָד, דָּם, אָב, בֵּן, בַּל, אֵל. Most of these nouns are exceedingly singular and will be considered in Lesson XVI.

7. The student will learn the causative, or Hiphil and Hophal stems. See Lesson XXI.

LESSON VIII.

NOUNS WHICH HAD ORIGINALLY ONE SHORT VOWEL FROM ROOTS WHOSE SECOND AND THIRD RADICALS WERE THE SAME.

1. Before all sufformatives and suffixes the original form remains, the double letter being denoted by Dagesh forte, e. g., רָבְכֶם, לִבּוֹ, גַּלְכֶם, גַּלִּים, גַּלָּה, גַּלָּה.

2. In the absolute and construct singular, the third radical is dropped, since but one consonant of the same kind can be pronounced at the end of a syllable, e. g., שֹׁד, רֹב, צַד, סַף, לֵב, כַּף, חַת, חַג (for hăgg), בַּד (for bădd).

Rem. 1. That ĭ and ŭ are always heightened in the monosyllabic forms to ē and ō except when these are followed by Makkeph, when they are obscured to ĕ and ŏ, e. g., כָּל, תֹּם, שֹׁד, רֹב, קֹר, עֹל, עֹז, חֹק, חֹם, שֵׁן, קֵץ, קֵן, צֵל, צַל, לֵב, חַן, אֵם. But ־כָּל; and with suffixes רֻבּוֹ, לִבּוֹ.

Rem. 2. Adjectives or nouns of the form קַטָּל, i. e., which had originally two short a vowels have contracted into the same form as nouns which had one short a, and are to be treated in inflection in exactly the same way, e. g., קַל and צַר, עַז, מַר, חַי, דַּל, רַב.

Rem. 3. When the second radical is aguttural, or Resh, which cannot be doubled, the preceding vowel is heightened to an unchangeable ā, ē, or ō, whenever endings are appended, e. g., רָעָה, שָׂרָה, פָּרָה, צָרָה, מָרִים. But, before Hêth, the Pathah may remain, e. g., פַּחִים, though this may be of the form קַטְל.

Rem. 4. When the doubled radical was Yodh, the construct singular was יְ when the original vowel was ă, e. g., דָּי from dăyy, חַי from hăyy. But when the original vowel was ĭ, we get a form like אִי, אִיִּים, אֲיִי.

Rem. 5. Certain nouns in ă heighten this ă to ā in the absolute singular with the article, e. g., חָג; הָהָר, הַר, הֶחָג; הַפָּר, פַּר; הָעָם, עַם.

The word יָם sea, always has the ā in the absolute state, whether with or without the article; and also, in the construct state, except before סוּף, e. g., יָם־הַמֶּלַח, הַיָּם, but יַם־סוּף.

LESSON IX.

NOUNS WHOSE PENULT IS UNCHANGEABLE AND THEIR ULTIMATE CHANGEABLE.

1. In nouns whose penultimate is unchangeable and whose ultimate had originally an ă, two cases arise:

(1) The ă is heightened to ā in the absolute singular and plural and before light suffixes; is lowered to the half-vowel in the construct plural; and reverts to the original ă in the construct singular, e. g., עוֹלָמַי, עוֹלָמִים, עוֹלָם, עוֹלַם. Before the grave suffixes the forms of the construct are found; before the light suffixes the form of the absolute, e. g., עֹלָמָיו, עֹלָמוֹ, עוֹלָמֵימוֹ. עוֹלַמְכֶם, עוֹלָמְכֶם.

Rem. When the third radical is Aleph, the Qameṣ of the absolute plural, is retained in the construct, e. g., מוֹצָאֵי (R. יָצָא).

(2) The original ă is retained in the construct singular and before all sufformatives and suffixes, the last consonant being doubled, e. g., אוֹפַנִּים, אוֹפַנּוּ.

In the absolute singular, the ă is heightened, e. g., אוֹפָן.

2. When the penultimate syllable is a closed one, and the ultimate syllable had originally an ă, the changes in inflection are the same as when the original vowel of the penult was long. That is, to nouns of this class belong not merely, nouns like עוֹלָם, אוֹפָן, and אוּלָם, but nouns like יִצְהָר, נִקְרָא, שִׁלְחָן, קֻרְבָּן, and מִקְדָּשׁ.

Rem. 1. Many nouns whose penultimate, originally closed, has become open through contraction, belong here, e. g., מוֹרָד from măwrăḏ (R. יָרַד), מוּסָר from muwsăr, (R. יָסַר) מֵישָׁר from măyšăr, תֵּימָן from tăymăn. Also, many nouns whose first syllable has become half-open, owing to the first radical's being a guttural, e. g., מֵעֲרָב, מַעֲלָל, מַעֲבָר, מַאֲכָל, מַעֲשָׂר. Also, מוֹבָא entrance.

Rem. 2. The final letter is occasionally doubled in forms whose penult ends in a consonant, e. g., מִשְׁמַנֵּי.

Rem. 3. In nouns whose last radical is Aleph, the original ă is sometimes lowered in the absolute plural, e. g., נִמְצָאִים. Compare נִפְלָאוֹת.

Rem. 4. Notice, that most of these nouns are formed by prefixing מ, נ or ת to the root.

3. מָגֵן and מָעוֹז, the vowel of whose penult is an original â and hence unchangeable, double the final radical before all endings, e. g., מֵעֻזּוֹ, מָגִנֵּי.

4. For this lesson, the student will need to learn the Niphal Stem, see Lesson XXII.

LESSON X.

1. When the penultimate syllable is unchangeable, either because it has an originally long vowel or one long by contraction, or because it constitutes a closed, or sharpened, syllable, the vowel of the ultimate syllable, (1) if it was originally ĭ, is heightened usually in the singular absolute and construct to ē, and takes the accent, e. g., קוֹטֵל.

(2) In the plural absolute and construct and before suffixes, it is lowered to the half-vowel, e. g., קְטָלִים, קְטָלֵי.

Rem. 1. Before ךָ, כֶם and כָן, the vowel is commonly obscured to ָ, e. g., קְטָלְךָ, קְטָלְכֶם, but אֶיבְכֶם.

Rem. 2. When the last radical is a guttural, it is preceded in the construct singular by Pathaḥ, e. g., יוֹדַע.

2. Nouns of this class which end in the absolute singular in ה have ה in the construct singular, ים in the absolute plural, and י, in the construct plural, e. g., גָּלָה, גָּלֵה, גָּלִים, גָּלֵי.

In the singular, the endings are dropped, and the suffixes appended directly to the second radical, e. g., גָּלָה, גָּלְכֶם, but גָּלָהוּ; in the plural, they are appended directly to the construct ending, e. g., גָּלָיו, גָּלֵיכֶם.

Rem. These nouns ending in ה are from verbs whose original third consonant was Wau, or Yodh. This third radical has been dropped and Hê is inserted as vowel letter after the final vowel.

3. The student will learn here the participle active Kal. Imv. (See Lesson XIX. 3 and Paradigm XIX and Ges. § 50); and, also, the Hithpael stem (Lesson XXII B and Ges. § 54).

Rem. 1. As to meaning, note that the Hithpael is usually reflexive, or reciprocal in sense; but rarely passive.

Rem. 2. An ה at the end of the first person of the Imperfect denotes intention, or volition, e. g., נִתְחַכְּמָה "let us act wisely".

LESSON XI.

NOUNS WHOSE ULTIMATE IS UNCHANGEABLE AND THE PENULT CHANGEABLE.

1. These comprise all nouns which had originally a long vowel in the ultimate, i. e., î, û, or â (ô), and an ă in the penult. This ă has been heightened to ā in the absolute singular, and everywhere else, has been lowered, e. g., קָטִיל, קָטוֹל, קְטוֹל, but קְטוֹל, קְטֹלוֹ, קְטֹלִים etc.

Rem. An original penultimate ĭ or ŭ is dropped everywhere, and in consequence, nouns of these forms have come to be classed among the unchangeable nouns of Lesson III, 2. (1) above. This happens because you seldom have a pretonic holem or sere. See p 6

2. When the third radical is Yodh preceded by î, only one Yodh is written; but before all endings, it is doubled and receives Dagesh forte, e. g., נְקִיִּי, נָקִי, נְקִיוֹ, נְקִיָּו, נְקִיִּים.

3. Nouns with preformatives, which through contraction have come to have forms with an unchangeable ultimate and a penultimate ā, are inflected just as if the preformative were a radical, e. g., מָצוֹר, מָבוֹא, מָאוֹר, מָשׂוֹשׂ, מָרוֹם, מָקוֹם. The plural of these may be feminine in form, but they remain masculine in gender, e. g., מְאוֹרֹת, מְקוֹמוֹת.

Rem. So also with forms ending in וֹן from ל״ה verbs, e. g., רָצוֹן, חָרוֹן, הָמוֹן, חָזוֹן.

4. Of course, a guttural will take a compound Shewa, where other consonants take simple Shewa, e. g., מִבְוָאֲךָ, עֲנָיִי. A guttural will, also, take a Pathaḥ furtive in all of these nouns, when it is not followed by a sufformative, or suffix, e. g., שָׁבוּעַ, רָקִיעַ, מָשִׁיחַ. Except of course a final Aleph, e. g., נָבִיא.

5. Observe that סָרִים comes under the class of unchangeable nouns the form being sărrîs, and the ā heightened to compensate for the non-doubling of the r. Observe, also, that in the plurals גּוֹיִם and שָׁמַיִם, the vowel of the ultima is written defectively, contrary to analogy; and that in the case of the latter the accent is on the penult, just as in the case of מַיִם water.

LESSON XII.

FEMININE NOUNS (1) FROM MASCULINE NOUNS, WHICH HAD ORIGINALLY TWO SHORT-VOWELS; AND (2) OTHERS, WHICH HAVE THE SAME INFLECTION AND CHANGES.

1. The feminine of nouns, which had originally two short vowels was primarily of the form ḳăṭălăth, ḳăṭŭlăth, ḳăṭĭlath, etc. In the construct state, the Tau is still retained and also the Pathah which preceded it; but, the vowel of the original penult has been lowered to Shewa, and that of the original antepenult, when ă, has been attenuated ordinarily to ĭ, e. g., נִדְבַת from năḏăvăth. In the construct plural the ending וֹת is unchangeable but the same changes in the original vowels of the penult and antepenult have taken place as in the construct singular
e. g., נִדְבוֹת.

2. In the absolute singular, the original Tau has been sluffed off, or dropped, and the preceding ă heightened at the end of the word to ā, which is followed by the vowel letter Hê. When the vowel of the original penult was ĭ or ă, it has been heightened to ē or ā respectively, while the antepenultimate vowel is lowered to Shewa, e. g., נְבֵלָה, נְדָבָה.

Rem. When the vowel of the original penult was ŭ, it has not been heightened to ō except by way of compensation before gutturals; but the last radical has been doubled to preserve the distinction between nouns of the form ḳăṭŭlăth and those of the form ḳăṭŭlăth. The former becomes like כְּבָדָּה and comes under Lesson III. C D. The latter becomes like קְטוּלָה and comes, likewise, under Lesson III. C D. So, also, with forms like קְטַנָּה from ḳăṭăn, and כְּלִמָּה from ḳălĭm (?).

3. In the absolute plural, the ending וֹת is appended to the same form as הָ in the singular, i. e., the vowel preceding the sufformative is heightened from ă to ā, or from ĭ to ē, and the vowel of the antepenult is lowered, e. g., נְדָבוֹת ,נְבֵלוֹת.

4. Before the grave suffixes כֶם֗ and כֶן֗, the construct singular remains unchanged; but, before the light suffixes, the final ă is heightened to ā, e. g., נְדָבַתְכֶם ,נִדְבָתוֹ.

The construct plural remains unchanged before all suffixes, e. g., נִדְבֹתֵיכֶם ,נִדְבֹתָיו.

5. Feminine nouns formed from masculines of the form ă-ĭ, kătĭl, frequently retain the ĭ heightened to ē, even in the construct, especially when the second or third radical is Aleph, e. g., מְלֵאת ,שְׁאֵלָתִי.

Rem. When the first radical was a Yodh or Wau, it is dropped in nouns of this form, e. g., עֵצָה for יְעֵצָה, עֵדָה for יְעֵדָה, יְשֵׁנָה for שֵׁנָה.

6. When the first radical is a guttural, the vowel of the first syllable often becomes Seghol, e. g., עֲגָלוֹת ,עֶגְלַת. When the second radical is a guttural, this takes place also in the case of בֶּהֱמַת.

LESSON XIII.

FEMININE NOUNS FORMED FROM MASCULINES, WHICH HAD ORIGINALLY ONE SHORT VOWEL.

1. The feminine singular of this class of nouns simply adds the feminine endings to the original forms kătl, kĭtl, kŭtl, except that it generally obscures ŭ to ŏ, e. g., מַלְכָּה, מַלְכָּה ,מָלְכָּה, but טֻמְאָה.

Rem. When the first radical is a guttural with ă or ĭ, the vowel is generally obscured to ĕ, e. g., חֶרְפָּה ,חֶלְקָה, עַלְמָה and אִמְרָה. But עֶרְוָה ,עֶזְרָה ,עֶגְלָה ,עֶבְרָה ,חֶמְדָּה.

2. The plurals, however, are generally formed, as if the singulars were derived from masculine nouns with two short vowels, as the following table will show. (See Paradigms XII and XIII).

צְעָקוֹת	עֲנָלוֹת	עֲרָבוֹת	נְדָבוֹת
צַעֲקוֹת	עֲגָלוֹת	עַרָבוֹת	נְדָבוֹת
נְעָרוֹת	חֲרָפוֹת	מְלָכוֹת	דְּבָרוֹת
נַעֲרוֹת	חֲרָפוֹת	מַלְכוֹת	דְּבָרוֹת

Rem. But the plural of nouns with a short ŭ are formed like חֲכָמוֹת, חָכְמוֹת, and טְמָאוֹת, טֻמְאוֹת.

FEMININE NOUNS WITH SEGHOLATE FORMATIONS.

1. Under this class may be placed all feminine nouns which take a helping vowel in the ultimate of the singular and which are accented on the penult, e. g., שֶׁבֶת, יוֹנֶקֶת, אַחֶרֶת, מִשְׁמֶרֶת, מֶמְשֶׁלֶת, פִּילֶגֶשׁ, תִּפְאָרֶת, מוֹלֶדֶת, צָרַעַת, דַּעַת, טַבַּעַת, מַחֲלֹקֶת, בֹּשֶׁת, נְחֹשֶׁת, פָּרֹכֶת, כַּפֹּרֶת, כֻּתֹּנֶת, קְטֹרֶת, תְּכֵלֶת.
2. Certain nouns which have a different form in the absolute singular, but a segholate form in the construct, are inflected in the plural and before suffixes just as if they were segholates, e. g., מִשְׁפַּחַת, מִשְׁפָּחָה, גְּבֶרֶת, גְּבִירָה, גְּבַרְתּוֹ; מַחֲשֶׁבֶת, מַחֲשָׁבָה; מִרְכֶּבֶת, מֶרְכָּבָה; מְלָאכֶת, מְלָאכָה.

Rem. To be noted, is the peculiar inflection of כֻּתֹּנֶת, כֻּתָּנְתּוֹ. Also, the unchangeable ā in צָרַעַת, inasmuch as a Resh cannot be doubled. The form is קַטֶּלֶת, טַבַּעַת.

LESSON XV.

NOUNS FROM ל״ה ROOTS.

1. In masculine nouns from roots whose third radical was originally Yodh the form k̞etî is often found in the absolute and construct singular, e. g., חֳלִי, בְּכִי, אֲרִי (See VII.
5 above). This form comes from an original k̞ăty or k̞ity קַטְי or קִטְי. For inflection, see VII. 5 above.
Rem. 1. Many nouns from these roots drop the final

Yodh entirely in many forms, e. g., אָח, אָב, but in the construct עֲדִי, עַד; אֶל, אֵלַי, אֱלַי; אָבִי, אָחִי. See XVI below.

Rem. 2. For nouns with final Wau, see VII. 6. above.

Rem. 3. But feminines like קִרְיָה, עֶרְוָה and גַּאֲוָה are regular. See XIII. 1.

2. Nouns of most other formations commonly reject altogether the third radical, and add directly to the second radical the endings ֶה, ָה, ִים, ִי, for the masculine, and ָה, ַת, וֹת, for the feminine, e. g., גָּלָה, גָּלַי, גָּלִים, גָּלָה, גָּלָה, מַחֲנַיִם, מַחֲנֶה; גָּלוֹת, גָּלַת.

Rem 1. The suffixes are added to their apocopated forms, e. g., גָּלָתִיכֶם, גָּלָתִיו, גָּלְכֶם, גָּלַיִכֶם, גָּלָתוֹ, גָּלָיו, גָּלָהוּ. So, also, with all forms whose penult is unchangeable, e. g., מַעֲשֶׂה, מַחֲנֶה, תִּקְוָה, גַּאֲה, פֶּנָּה, עֲלָיָה, גּוּיָה, רָעֶה, חֹזֶה, עָלָה, וֹנָה, גָּלָה, מַרְאֶה, מַשְׁקֶה, מִשְׁתֶּה, מִשְׁנָה, מִקְנֶה, מִקְנָה, מִקְוֶה, מִצְוָה, מַכָּה, מַטֶּה, מִטָּה.

Rem. 2. Nouns ending in וּת from ל"ה roots are unchangeable in inflection, e. g., תַּזְנוּת, פָּדוּת, שָׁבוּת, כְּסוּת, דְּמוּת, and even גָּלוּת.

3. But in nouns which had originally two short vowels, the vowel of the penult is changeable, e. g., in the following: שָׂדֶה, רָפֶה, קָשֶׁה, קָצֶה, עָלֶה, נָבֶה, נָוֶה, יָפֶה, פָּנִים (sing. פָּנֶה), and שָׁנַיִם, עָנָו, חָמָה, שָׁנָה.

Rem. This is true, also, in all other nouns which have in the penult of the absolute singular a heightened vowel, e. g., רָצוֹן, חָרוֹן, הָמוֹן, חָזוֹן, עָנִי, נָקִי. See Lesson XI. 2, 3.

4. When a third radical Yodh is preceded by a fully written Ḥiriq, but one Yodh is written, e. g., נָקִי for נָקִיי; but when this form has a sufformative, or suffix, the Yodh is doubled, e. g., נְקִיָּיו, נְקִיּוֹ, נְקִיִּים, נְקִיָּה.

LESSON XVI.

NOUNS OF PECULIAR FORMATION.

1. Many of the peculiarities of the singular nouns arise from the dropping, or contraction of a letter, e. g., in אָב, אָה, בֵּן, and שֵׁם the last letter has been dropped. In the constructs אֲבִי and אֲחִי, the original final letter has been retained, as in כְּלִי, אֲרִי.

2. Some of these nouns seem to have plurals from different roots, e. g., אִישׁ and אִשָּׁה; and others of different form, as כֵּלִים. To most of them we shall give a separate discussion.

(1) אָב, probably from a root אבי. Hence the construct singular אֲבִי; אָבִי my father from אַבְיִי; אָבִיו from אֲבִיהוּ. The plural אָבוֹת is for אָבְיוֹת áyâ contracting into ô, אֲבוֹת, אֲבֹתָם less seldom אֲבוֹתֵיהֶם.

(2) אָח, probably from a root אחי. Hence, the construct אֲחִי and אָחִי my brother (for אָחְיִי) and אָחִיו (for אֲחִיהוּ). In the plural, the absolute is אַחִים (perhaps for more original אַחַי, (אַחְיִים) אֲחֵיכֶם (for אַחְיֵיכֶם), אֲחֵי (for אַחְיֵי), in pause אֶחָי (with ă changed to Seghol before Têth with Ḳameṣ), אֶחָיו (for אַחְיָיו).

(3) אָחוֹת contracted in the last syllable and heightened in the penult probably from אַחַת, const. אֲחוֹת; plur. absolute אֲחָיוֹת regular and אֲחוֹת contracted; const. אַחְיוֹת regular and אַחְוֹת contracted.

(4) אָמָה, אַמַת etc. (just like the עֲקָה of עֲקֵקָה). Plural אֲמָהוֹת, אַמְהוֹת (just like עֲרָבוֹת) with Hê inserted as frequently in Syriac.

(5) אִישׁ in the singular unchangeable like דִּין of Lesson III. In the plural, there is a poetical form אִישִׁים; but the form in use in prose is אֲנָשִׁים (as if from אֱנָשׁ or אֱנָשׁ; a form אֱנוֹשׁ is actually found in poetry, but its plural would be אֱנוֹשִׁים) construct אַנְשֵׁי, just like the nouns of Lesson IV, or Lesson V.

(6) אִשָּׁה from אִנְשָׁה, const. אֵשֶׁת, אִשְׁתּוֹ etc.; Plural, נָשִׁים (as if from a singular נָשָׁה) inflected like פָּנִים, Lesson XV.

(7) בַּיִת a singular in every respect like זַיִת, Lesson VII. Plural בָּתִּים, בָּתֵּי, with Ḳameṣ followed by Dagesh forte and accompanied by Methegh, a unique formation, to be remembered but not to be explained. The Methegh is doubtless used to call attention to the Ḳameṣ in the closed and sharpened syllable; and the Tau may be doubled to distinguish the form from the participle בָּתִים from בּוּת.

(8) בֵּן, const. בֶּן־ or בֶּן־, with 3rd radical elided. Plural בָּנִים, like פָּנִים, as if from singular בָּנֶה.

(9) בַּת (from בַּנְתְּ from בַּנְיַת) with suffix בִּתּוֹ for בִּנְתּוֹ; plural, בָּנוֹת as if from singular בָּנֶה, like יָפֶה, Lesson XV.

(10) הַר, from hărr; hence, הָרִים = harrim, הָרֵי with unchangeable Qameṣ because of the non doubling of the Resh. הַרְרֵי = regular uncontracted plural construct.

(11) יוֹם, contracted from yawm, inflected like טוֹב Lesson III in singular; in plural יָמִים (for יוֹמִים but with second radical dropped instead of contracted), like פָּנִים, Lesson XV.

(12) כְּלִי in singular like פְּרִי. In plural כֵּלִים as if from כְּלָיַי for כְּלָי, כְּלָיִים.

(13) מַיִם and שָׁמַיִם are found only in the plural and are accented on the penult, the i of the ultimate being short. In the construct plural of מַיִם there are two forms in use מֵי and a reduplicated form מֵימֵי.

(14) עִיר in the singular like דִּין, Lesson III. In the plural like עָרִים Lesson XV. Compare, also, (11) above.

(15) פֶּה root and original form uncertain. Construct פִּי "My mouth", also, פִּי.

(16) רֹאשׁ apparently contracted from רַאשׁ. Plural רָאשִׁים, with unchangeable Qameṣ, apparently from רְאָשִׁים, the ְ thrown back and Aleph quiescent.

(17) שֵׁם, const. שֶׁם or שֶׁם־; plural שֵׁמוֹת, שְׁמוֹת.

(18) שָׁמַיִם from root שׁמי. See (13) above.

(19) עֵדוּת, עֵדְוֹת or עֵדוֹת.

(20) שֶׂה שֵׂיוֹ, as if the second radical were Yodh.

(21) עַד, (22) עַל, (23) אֶל, retain in the plural the inflection of nouns like פָּנִים, פְּנֵי.

(24) יָד and דָּם (25) are inflected 'alike, dropping the vowel of the second radical in the singular and in the plural being inflected like פָּנִים and יָפוֹת. Notice the Seghol in יֶדְכֶם.

LESSON XVII.

THE VERB.

1. The verb is either transitive or intransitive. Transitive verbs are of the form קָטַל. Intransitive verbs are sometimes of the form קָטַל, but they have, also, the two special forms קָטֵל and קָטֹל.

2. The original forms of the transitive verb were:

	3rd person		2nd person		1st person
	sing.	plur.	sing.	plur.	sing.	plur.
Masc.	kătălă	kătălûna	kătălta	kătăltŭn	kătălti	kătalnû
Fem.	kătălătă	kătălână	kătălti	kătăltĕn		com.

3. Kătălă drops the ultimate vowel, except before suffixes; retains the penultimate vowel ă, which receives the accent; and heightens the original antepenultimate ă to ā,—the resultant form being קָטַ֫ל, but before suffixes קְטַל.

Rem. 1. No one can tell, why the verb form kătălă is of the form קָטַל, whereas the noun form kătălŭ-ĭ-ă, is קָטֵל, קְטַל. A reason for the difference is found in the principle of the differentiation of forms, i. e., here, a distinction is thus made to the eye and ear between the verb and the noun.

Rem. 2. At the end of a sentence, i. e. in pause, the form קָטַל becomes קָטָל. Before the light suffixes it becomes קְטָל, e. g., הו + קָטַל = קְטָלוּ. Before the grave it becomes קְטַל, e. g., כֶם + קְטַל = קְטַלְכֶם.

4. Kătălăth sluffs off the final consonant, the final ă being in consequence heightened to ā, to which is given the vowel letter Hê. The penultimate vowel is lowered and the vowel of the antepenult heightened, the resultant form being קָטְלָה.

Rem. 1. The verb probably took the form קָטְלָה to differentiate itself from the feminine noun form קְטָלָה. Both were from an original kătălăth.

Rem. 2. The original Tau is retained before suffixes, e. g., קְטָלַתְהוּ.

5. Kặtặlûnặ drops the na, lowers the original ante-penultimate ặ and heightens the first ặ to ā, the resultant form being קָטְלוּ; before suffixes קְטָלוּ.

Rem. 1. The form קְטָלוּן is still found at times, especially in pause.

Rem. 2. Once, perhaps because of a scribal error, Hê appears at the end of the third plural instead of Wau, e. g., שָׁפְכָה. Or, should this be pointed שֶׁפְכָה and be taken as a third feminine plural, or singular; or even, as the dual subject would allow, as an example of an old dual form?

Rem. 3. Sometimes an Aleph was appended to the final û, e. g., הֵלְכוּא. See Orthog. VIII, 1. This may have been in imitation of the Arabic.

6. In the perfect, the third feminine plural has ceased to be used, the masculine form taking its place; or, per-haps, at times, the feminine singular takes its place.

7. In the first and second persons, the endings are the last syllable of the respective personal pronouns, all easily recognizable, except the first singular, where a change between k and t seems to have taken place.

Rem. 1. In tabular form the pronouns of the first and second persons may be represented as follows:

	Singular			Plural
	Ind.	Sufform.	Suffix	Ind.	Sufform.	Suffix
2nd masc.	אַתָּה	תָּה	כָה	אַתֶּם	תֶּם	כֶם
2nd fem.	אַתְּ	תְּ	ךְ	אַתֵּן	תֵּן	כֵן
1st com.	אָנֹכִי (אֲנִי)	תִּי	נִי	נַחְנוּ	נוּ	נוּ

Rem. 2. For the change from כִּי to תִּי in the first person, compare the change from t to k in the second person, as between the sufformatives and suffixes. Also, it is to be noted, that in Ethiopic, the sufformatives of the perfect for the 1st and 2nd singular all begin with k.

8. Notice, that in the third person, the accent is on the ultimate, e. g., קָטַל, קָטְלָה, קָטְלוּ.—In the other forms, it is on the syllable טַל, except in the second plural where it is on the syllable following טַל; the resultant forms being קָטַלְנוּ, קָטַלְתִּי, קָטַלְתָּ, קָטַלְתְּ (all with pretonic Qameṣ) and קְטַלְתֶּן, קְטַלְתֶּם (with the pretonic Qameṣ lowered, since it is no longer before the accent).

9. In intransitive verbs of the forms in ĭ (ē), and ŭ (ō) the following changes are to be noted.

(1) The ĭ of the verbs in ĭ (ē) remains only in the first form i. e. the 3rd sing. masc., e. g., כָּבֵד, where it is heightened to ē. Except in pause, where the original ĭ is sometimes found heightened to ē in the 3rd fem. sing. and in the 3rd masc. plural, e. g., קָרֵבוּ, קָרֵבָה. In other forms, the ĭ is changed to ă, e. g., קָרַבְתָּ.

Rem. In sporadic cases, an ă is changed to ĭ after the second radical, e. g., יְרִשְׁתֶּם.

(2) The ŭ of verbs in ŭ is heightened to ō, wherever the syllable containing it has the accent. Elsewhere, it is lowered to Shewa, as in the 3rd fem. sing. and 3rd masc. plur.; or obscured to ŏ, as in the 2nd plural, e. g., יָכֹל, יָכְלוּ, יָכְלָה, יְכָלְתָּה, יְכָלְתֶּם.

10. When the third radical is Tau and the sufformative begins with Tau, but one Tau is written, but is receives Dagesh-forte, e. g., שְׁבַתֶּן, כְּרַתֶּם, כָּרַתָּ, כָּרַתִּי.

11. When the third radical is Nun and the sufformative begins with Nun, but one Nun is written and it receives Dagesh-forte, e. g., שָׁמַנּוּ, קָטֹנּוּ, צָפַנּוּ, מָמַנּוּ, נָתַנּוּ, שָׁבַנּוּ.

LESSON XVIII.

THE IMPERFECT KAL.

1. There are three forms of the Imperfect Kal, just as of the perfect, and distinguished in like manner by the vowel after the second radical into Imperfects in ă, ĭ, and ŭ, the latter two of which are always heightened by the accent into ē and ō.

Note. The form in ē is not found in Hebrew in the regular verb, but appears in the Pê Nun verb יִתֵּן (from יִנְתֵּן), see Lesson XXXIV), and in Pê Wau verbs of the form יֵשֵׁב. (See Lesson XXXVI.)

In the regular verb the ă appears in the Imperfects of intransitive verbs only, e. g., יִכְבַּד from כָּבֵד, יִרְגַּן from רָגַן, יִקְטַן from קָטֹן.

Note. But in irregular, or weak, verbs it appears in verbs transitive, or intransitive, whose second or third radical is a guttural, e. g., יִגְאַל, יִשְׁמַע. This ă is heightened before a final א into ā, e. g., יִמְצָא; also, in pause, for all verbs in ă, e. g., יִרְגָּן; and before most light suffixes, e. g., יִשְׁמָעֵהוּ.

The ŭ appears heightened to ō in the accented syllable of all regular transitive verbs, e. g., יִקְטֹל, תִּקְטֹלְנָה. In forms like יִקְטֹל, the original ŭ is obscured to ŏ before the suffixes כֶם and כֶן, e. g., יִקְטָלְכֶם.

In syllables not having the accent, the original vowels are always lowered, except before certain suffixes. (See Lessons XXVI and following), e. g., תִּקְטְלוּ, יִקְטְלוּ, תִּקְטְלִי; תִּכְבְּדִי, יִכְבְּדוּ, תִּכְבְּדוּ; תִּתְּנִי (for תִּנְתְּנִי), יִתְּנוּ (for יִנְתְּנוּ), תִּתְּנוּ (for תִּנְתְּנוּ).

So that the original vowels ŭ and ă appear as follows in the various forms: יִקְטֹל, יִקְטְלוּ, יִקְטָלְכֶם; יִכְבַּד, יִכְבְּדוּ, יִכְבָּדַהוּ.

The original forms of the Kal Imperfect in ŭ may be tabulated as follows:

	Singular		Plural
	Masc.	Fem.	Masc.	Fem.
3rd person	Yăkṭŭlŭ-ĭ-ă	Tăkṭŭlŭ-ĭ-ă	Yăkṭŭlûna	Tăkṭŭlnă
2nd person	Tăkṭŭlŭ-ĭ-ă	Tăkṭŭlîna	Tăkṭŭlûna	Tăkṭŭlnă
1st person	'ăkṭŭlŭ-ĭ-ă		Năkṭŭlŭ-ĭ-ă

In like manner, yăkṭălŭ-ĭ-ă for the Imperfect in ă;
and yăntĭnŭ-ĭ-ă for the Imperfect in ĭ.

Rem. 1. Of the preformatives of the Imperfect,

     י is always 3rd person masculine

     א „   „   1st   „   singular

     נ „   „   „   „   plural

     ת „ either 2nd   „   , or 3rd fem.

As to sufformatives, וּ is always masc. plural

        נָה „   „   fem.   „

        ִי   „   „   2nd fem. singular.

Note: These preformatives and sufformatives are used in all stems and in all kinds of verbs regular and irregular.

Rem. 2. The original ă of the preformative is attenuated to ĭ with י, תּ, and נ, but with א it is obscured to ĕ; e. g., יִקְטֹל for יַקְטֹל, but אֶקְטֹל.

Rem. 3. Occasionally, especially at the end of a sentence (i. e. in pause), the older forms in ûn appear in the masculine plural, e. g., יְרְגְּזוּן; יִלְקְטוּן.

Rem. 4. Once, the Imperfect has וּ instead of Shewa after the second consonant of the third plural, e. g., יִשְׁפּוּטוּ.

Rem. 5. The original vowels of the penult are heightened in pause, e. g., תִּקְרֵבוּ, תִּשְׁקֹטִי, יִשְׁבָּתוּ. So also, the ă of the ultimate, e. g., תִּקְרֵב. But, on the other hand, the original ŭ is obscured before Makkeph, e. g., יִכְתָּב־שָׁם.

LESSON XIX.

THE INFINITIVES, IMPERATIVE, AND PARTICIPLES KAL.

1. The Infinitive Absolute is unchangeable, and never takes article, preposition, nor suffixes. The original form was ḳăṭâl which becomes by heightening of ă in the pretonic syllable and by obscuring of â to ô, קָטוֹל.

2. The original form of the Infinitive Construct in most common use was ḳŭṭl (Ges. § 93 t), a form which is ordinarily retained before suffixes, the ŭ being commonly obscured to ŏ in the closed syllable, e. g., קָטְלוֹ. In the absolute and construct forms of the Infinitive Construct, the vowel is shifted to the second radical and heightened, so that the resulting form is קְטֹל.

Before כֶם and כֶן and sometimes before ךָ, as also before Makkeph, this ō becomes ŏ, e. g., קְטָלְכֶם, מְלָךְ־מֶלֶךְ; לִשְׁמָרְךָ, but also, בְּשָׁכְבְּךָ.

Rem. Other forms of the Infinitive Construct are קְטֹל, מַקְטֵל, מִקְטָל, (קִטְלָה), קְטָלָה, קִטְלָה, קַטְלָה.

3. The Active Participle קוֹטֵל from ḳâṭĭl is inflected according to Lesson X above. The feminine singular is קֹטֶלֶת or קֹטְלָה.

Rem. Intransitive verbs in ē use the form קָטֵל as a participle, e. g., כָּבֵד.

4. The Passive Participle is of the form ḳăṭûl, with the û unchangeable and the ă lowered everywhere, except in the absolute singular, where it is heightened to ā, e. g., קָטוּל, but קְטוּל, קְטוּלָה, קְטוּלוֹ, קְטוּלִי, קְטוּלַיְ, קְטוּלָיְ. See Lesson XI above.

Rem. In a few cases, the form of the passive seems to be active, or reflexive, in sense, e. g., זָכוּר mindful.

5. For practical purposes, the Imperative may be looked upon as formed from the second person of the Imperfect by simply dropping the preformative תּ. This requires the insertion of a helping vowel in the feminine singular and in the masculine plural, inasmuch as three consonants would otherwise come at the beginning of the syllable, e. g., קְטֹל, קִטְלִי, תִּקְטְלִי. This helping vowel is Ḥiriq, but exceptionally Qameṣ Ḥaṭuf.

LESSON XX.

THE INTENSIVE STEMS, PIEL AND PUAL.

1. The intensive stem is formed from the simple stem by doubling the second radical. Thus ḳăṭălă became ḳăṭṭălă; passive ḳŭṭṭălă.

2. (1) The final vowel is dropped as in Kal; (2) the vowel of the original antepenult is retained except in the Perfect Piel, where it is attenuated to ĭ; (3) and the vowel of the original penult is either retained (as it is before the sufformatives of the first and second persons of the Perfect); or (4) attenuated and heightened, as it is in the Piel, where the following letter ends the word, and before the sufformative נָה of the Imperfect and Imperative; or

(5) lowered to Shewa, as it is before all vowel endings and before all sufformatives and suffixes of the participle, except כֶם and כֶן, e. g., (1)(2) קְטֵל (3) קְטֵּלְתְּ, קְטֵל, (4) קְטֵל, מְקַטְּלְכֶם ,מְקַטְּלוֹ ,מְקַטְּלִים ,קְטְלוּ (5), תְּקַטֵּלְנָה ,קְטֵל.

3. Preformatives in these stems take uniformly Shewa;
the Aleph of the first person, a Ḥaṭef-Pathaḥ, e. g., יְקַטֵּל, אֲקַטֵּל ,מְקַטֵּל ,יְקַטֵּל.

Rem. The preformatives and the sufformatives, except for the vowel of the preformative, are the same as in the Kal stem.

5. Sometimes, before a final Resh the vowel of the 3rd person singular masculine is heightened to Seghol,
e. g., דִּבֶּר. Sometimes, with other consonants, the original ă is retained, e. g., גָּדַל.

6. In pause, vowels will be heightened as usual, e. g., מִלְמֵדָה ,לֵמָד ,יְכֻבַּד.

LESSON XXI.

THE CAUSATIVE STEMS, HIPHIL AND HOPHAL.

1. The original forms were hăf'ălă and hŭf'ălă. In both the final ă has been dropped. In the Hophal, the original form has been retained, except for the obscuring commonly of ŭ to ŏ. But in the Hiphil, the following changes of vowels occur.

(1) The ă of the preformative is attenuated in the Perfect to ĭ, e. g. הִקְטַלְתָּ.

(2) The ă of the original penult has in certain cases been changed to î, e. g. in the 3rd person of the Perfect, in the Inf. Construct, in the Participle; in all forms of the Imperfect, except the feminine plural, and in the forms of the Imperative which have vowel sufformatives, e. g., הִקְטִיל, הַקְטִילוּ; הַקְטִיל; מַקְטִיל; הַקְטִיל, יַקְטִיל; הַקְטִילוּ; הַקְטִיל.

Rem. 1. The ă of the original penult is retained in the first and second persons of the Perfect, e. g. הִקְטַלְנוּ, הִקְטַלְתָּה.

Rem. 2. This î cannot be accounted for in accordance with the ordinary rules of vowel change. In Arabic the vowel is ă; in Syriac, ē, the original ă being attenuated and then heightened; but in Hebrew the heightened ē seems to have been further changed into î, a change not unprecedented in the Semitic languages in the case of a contracted ê, but not to be expected in the case of a mere heightened vowel.

Rem. 3. In the verb standing alone the syllable with î always takes the accent, e. g., הַקְטִילָה, יַקְטִילוּ, הַקְטִילִי.

But not in the participle, nor before suffixes, e. g., יַקְטִילֵהוּ, הַקְטִילְכֶם, מַקְטִילִים.

Rem. 4. In the Imperfect before נָה, the second syllable has טֵל. This טֵל appears also in the Inf. Abs., in the first form of the Imperative and in the 2nd person feminine plural of the Imperative, e. g., הַקְטֵל, תַּקְטֵלְנָה, הַקְטֵלְנָה.

2. In the Imperfects and Participles, the Hê of the preformative is dropped, or absorbed, after the preformative, e. g., יַקְטִיל for יְהַקְטִיל, מַקְטִיל for מְהַקְטִיל, יַקְטֵל for יְהַקְטֵל, מָקְטָל for מְהָקְטָל.

3. There is a form of the Imperfect, called Jussive (see Lesson XXV), shortened, where possible, from the ordinary form of the Imperfect. In the Hiphil, it occurs in the 3rd person singular and in the 2nd masc. sing. under the forms תַּקְטֵל, יַקְטֵל, from יַהְקְטֵל, תְּהַקְטֵל. The Imperative is formed from this Jussive by dropping, as usual, the preformatives, e. g., תְּהַקְטֵל becomes הַקְטֵל; תְּהַקְטִילִי, הַקְטִילִי etc.

4. The Infinitives Absolute are הַקְטֵל, הָקְטֵל; the Constructs are הַקְטִיל, with suffixes הַקְטִילְכֶם, הַקְטִילוֹ, and הָקְטֵל, with suffixes הָקְטַלְכֶם, הָקְטְלוֹ.

LESSON XXII.

THE REFLEXIVE, OR NIPHAL, AND THE RECIPROCAL, OR HITHPAEL.

A. THE NIPHAL.

1. The original form of the Perfect of the Niphal stem was năḳṭălă. In the regular verb the last ă is dropped, the penultimate ă is (1) unchanged in the 3rd masc. sing. and in the 1st and 2nd persons, (2) lowered before הָ and וּ to Shewa. The ă of the antepenult is attenuated to ĭ, e. g., נִקְטַל, נִקְטַלְתָּה, נִקְטְלוּ.

2. The Participle is of the same form as the Perfect, except that in the absolute state singular the ă is heightened to ā, e. g., נִקְטָלָה, נִקְטָלַי, נִקְטָלִים, נִקְטָל, נִקְטָל, נִקְטָלוֹת, נִקְטָלֶת.

3. After the preformatives of the Imperfect, Imperative and more common Infinitives, the Nun of the stem is assimilated to the first radical of the verb, e. g., יִנְקַטֵל becomes יִקָּטֵל; הִנְקַטֵל becomes הִקָּטֵל etc. Notice that in these forms, the last vowel is usually attenuated and then heightened to ē, and the penultimate vowel is usually heightened to ā. This ā remains everywhere in the Impf., Imv., and Infinitives, but the ē is lowered to the half-vowel in all forms with a sufformative vowel, e. g., הִקָּטְלוּ, יִקָּטְלוּ, הִקָּטְלוּ. Before the נָה of the Impf., and Imv., the original ă is retained, e. g., הִקָּטַלְנָה, תִּקָּטַלְנָה.

4. Note that there are two forms of the Infinitive absolute, הִקָּטֹל and נִקְטֹל. A form אִדְּרֹשׁ with Aleph for Hê occurs once.

5. Before Makkeph and before ךָ, כֶם and כֶן the final ē is changed to ĕ, e. g., הִקָּטֶלְכֶם, הִשָּׁמֶר־לְךָ.

6. The vowel of the preformative א of the Imperfect first person singular is as often ĭ as ĕ, i. e. אִקָּטֵל, as well as אֶקָּטֵל.

7. Notice the pausal forms, תִּשָּׁמֵדוּן, יִקָּבֵרוּ, and the older ending in this latter word and in יֵלָּכְדוּן, et al.

B. THE HITHPAEL.

1. The Hithpael is formed by prefixing הִת to the Piel stem, ḳ*ăṭṭăl*. The syllable קַ remains unchanged in all forms. טַל (1) remains before the endings of the first and second persons of the Perfect; (2) is changed to ē by attenuation and heightening before נָה of the Impf. and Imv., and in all forms without a sufformative; (3) is lowered before all endings consisting of a vowel or beginning with one, and (4) is obscured to Seghol before the suffixes הָ, כָם and כָן, e. g., (1) הִתְקַטַּלְתָּה; (2) תִּתְקַטֵּלְנָה, הִתְקַטֵּל; (3) הִתְקַטְּלוּ, הִתְקַטְּלוֹ; (4) הִתְקַטֶּלְכֶם.

2. The Hê of the preformative is dropped, or absorbed, after the preformatives of the Imperfect and Participle.

3. In the Hithpael of verbs beginning with ס, שׂ and שׁ the ת and the sibilant are transposed, e. g., מִשְׁתַּכֵּר, הִסְתַּתֵּר, הִשְׁתַּמֵּר. In verbs beginning with צ, transposition takes place and the Tau is changed to ט, e. g., הִצְטַדֵּק. In the only case of a Hithpael of a verb beginning with ז, the ת is assimilated to the Zain, e. g., הִזַּכּוּ Is. 1. 16.

4. In the Hithpael of verbs beginning with ת, one Tau is written, but it is to be doubled and receives Dagesh forte, e. g., הִתַּמָּם.

When a root begins with Daleth or Teth, the Tau is assimilated to it, e. g., הִדַּבֵּר, הַטַּמָּא.

Rem. Occasionally, with other letters assimilation occurs.

5. In the Perfect, Imperfect, and Imperative, the original ă of the טַל syllable always heightens to ā in pause, e. g., יִטַּמָּאוּ, נִצְטַדָּק, יִטַּמָּא, תִּתַּמָּם.

6. The Hithpael had apparently originally a passive in use of the form Huthpaal. It is found in but four verbs and but eight times in all. In the case of הֻכַּבֵּם, the Tau has seemingly been assimilated.

LESSON XXIII.

THE PERFECT KAL WITH SUFFIXES.

1. It may be said in general, that the more original forms of the verb are found before suffixes, e. g., taking (1) kătălă the earlier form of קָטַל and adding the suffixes we get:

kătălă + hû = with contraction   קְטָלֹו kătălă + hî (or ha) = with contraction   קְטָלָהּ kătălă + kā, with proper changes   קְטָלְךָ kătălă + nî   „   „   „   קְטָלַנִי kătălă + hem „   „   „   קְטָלָם kătălă + hen „   „   „   קְטָלָן kătălă + kem „   „   „   קְטַלְכֶם kătălă + ken „   „   „   קְטַלְכֶן kătălă + nû   „   „   „   קְטָלָנוּ; but kătălă + ki becomes קְטָלֵךְ.

(2) Taking kătălăth for a second example we get:
kătălăth + hû = קְטָלַתְהוּ or קְטָלַתּוּ by assimilation backwards.
   „   + hî = קְטָלַתָּה
   „   + hem = קְטָלָתַם
   „   + kem = קְטָלַתְכֶם etc.; but קְטָלָתָךְ.

2. Forms ending in a vowel append the pronouns directly without further change than the proper heightening, lowering etc. of the vowels on account of changes of accent, and the casual contractions arising from hu preceded by ă or i, e. g., קְטָלוּ, but קְטָלֹוהוּ; קְטַלְתִּי, but קְטַלְתִּיו, but קְטָלַתּוֹ; קְטַלְתָּה, but קְטָלָתִיו.

3. The ending of the 2nd person plural is changed to תוּ for both genders, e. g., קְטַלְתּוּם, קְטַלְתּוּהוּ; the ending of the 2nd fem. sing. reverts to, or rather retains, the more original ending תִּי, e. g., קְטַלְתִּיהוּ, thus coming to coincide in form with the first person singular, which has, also, the form קְטַלְתִּי before suffixes.

4. Notice the exceptional forms קְטָלַתָךְ, קְטָלָךְ, where the union vowel ĭ is employed heightened with the accent to ē and obscured without the accent to ĕ. Notice, also, the forms קְטַלֵּנִי but קְטָלַתְּנִי; קְטַלָּנוּ but קְטַלְתָּנוּ. For none of these variations is a satisfactory reason known.

PERFECTS OF DERIVED STEMS WITH SUFFIXES.

1. All forms of the first and second persons are unchangeable before suffixes, e. g., קַטַּלְנוּהוּ, הִקְטַלְתִּיהוּ. Except, of course, that the ā of תָּ becomes ă before נִי, e. g., הִסְגַּרְתַּנִי.

2. The 3rd fem. sing. becomes קָטְלַת and הִקְטִילַת with the same changes as in Kal; the 3rd plur. remains unchanged, i. e., קָטְלוּ and הִקְטִילוּ; the 3rd masc. sing. becomes קָטַּל and הִקְטִיל, just as in Kal קָטַל. Examples: קָטְּלַתּוּ, הִקְטִילוּהוּ; קָטְּלַהוּ; הִקְטִילָתָה, קָטְּלַתְכֶם.

Rem. קַטֵּל becomes קַטֶּל before ךָ, כֶם and כֶן, e. g., קִבֶּצְךָ, קִבֶּצְכֶם.

3. Notice, that the second radical of the Piel, where it is followed by a half-vowel only, often loses its characteristic doubling, e. g., בִּקְשָׁהוּ.

THE COHORTATIVE AND JUSSIVE.

1. The so-called Cohortative is formed by appending ה to the first person singular or plural of the Imperfect. In all stems except Hiphil, this causes the lowering of the preceding vowel, e. g., אֲקַטְּלָה, אֶקָּטְלָה, אֲקַטְלָה; but אַקְטִילָה.

Rem. 1. In pause, however, the vowel preceding the ending ה is heightened, e. g., אֶקְטְלָה, but אָקְטֵלָה, אֶרְגְּזָה, אֶתְקַטְּלָה. Notice, that in the Niphal and Hithpael, as well as in the Kal Imperfect in ă, the vowel is heightened from the original ă to ā.

Rem. 2. This ה is the fragment of a primitive ending ăn, the Nun of which is often retained before suffixes of the 3rd pers. sing., and perhaps of the 2nd masc. sing.,

e. g., אָקְטְלָךָ, אֲקְטְלֶנָּה, אֲקְטְלֶנּוּ.

2. The Cohortative denotes intention, determination, or, in the case of the plural, exhortation. It is to be rendered in English by the auxiliaries "will", "let", etc.

3. The Jussive is a shortened form of the Imperfect, where shortening is possible, to denote command etc. In Arabic, there are five moods of the Imperfect, which may be called Indicative, Subjunctive, Jussive, and Energetic (two of this last). The first three have the endings of the cases of the noun ŭ, ă, ĭ. The Jussive in Hebrew corresponds to the last of these, but has a distinctive form, (now that the old endings have been dropped), only in the Hiphil, e. g., יַקְטִיל becomes יַקְטֵל and תַּקְטֵל, תַּקְטִיל. In forms of the Hiphil with endings, the Jussive coincides in form with the ordinary Imperfect.

Rem. 1. The term Voluntative is used to embrace the Cohortative and Jussive.

Rem. 2. It will be seen, that the first form of the Hiphil Imperative is formed from the Jussive by dropping the preformative, i. e., הַקְטֵל from תְּהַקְטֵל.

4. The cohortative הָ is sometimes appended to the Imperative, changing its meaning from a command to a request, or prayer. In Kal, this cohortative Imperative takes either the form שָׁמְרָה, or the form שִׁכְבָה; though the form צְרוּפָה is found once.

LESSON XXVI.
THE IMPERFECT WITH SUFFIXES.

1. The forms of all Imperfects ending in a vowel remain unchanged before suffixes, e. g., יַקְטְלוּהוּ, יִקְטְלוּהוּ, יַקְטִילוּהוּ.

Rem. Instead of the feminine plural, the masculine plural is employed before suffixes.

2. Of the forms of the Imperfect ending in a consonant before suffixes.

(1) The Hiphil forms remain unchanged, e. g., יַקְטִילַהוּ, יַקְטִילְכֶם יַקְטִילֶהָ.

(2) The Kal forms in ŭ and Piel forms (a) obscure the last vowel before, הָ, כֶם and כֶן, e. g., יִקְטְלָם יִקְטָלְכֶם; יִקְטָלְךָ, יַקַּטְלְכֶם יַקַּטְלְךָ.

b. Lower the last vowel everywhere else, e. g., יִקְטְלֵהוּ, יַקַּטְלֵהוּ.

Rem. 1. The union vowels are

(1) ָ occurring only before הָ, e. g., יִקְטְלָהָ יַקַּטְלָהָ;

(2) ְ „ before הָ, כֶם and כֶן, e. g., יִקְטָלְךָ יַקַּטְלְךָ;

(3) ֵ „ everywhere else, e. g., יִקְטְלֵהוּ יְקַטְלַהוּ.

Rem. 2. Once, the original ŭ is written with Shurek, e. g., תְּשְׁמוּרֵם. Probably, a scribal error.

Rem. 3. In Imperfects in ă, the original ă (1) is retained before הָ, כֶם and כֶן, e. g., יִלְבָּשְׁךָ יַלְבִּשְׁכֶם.

(2) Is heightened, everywhere else into ā, e. g., יִשְׁמָעֵהוּ, יִשְׁמָעֶהָ.

3. In about four hundred cases in all, the old Nun of the energetic or cohortative form of the Imperfect is retained before the suffixes of the 3rd person singular. With הוּ, this Nun contracts into נּוּ ; with הָ, into נָּה, e. g., אֶשְׁמְרַנָּה יִשְׁמְרֶנּוּ.

Rem. 1. In addition to this visible, and certain, employment of Nun (called by grammarians, Nun epenthetic, demonstrative, or energetic), a Dagesh forte is often found in the first letter of the suffix of the second masculine singular, which may have been rightly inserted by the Massoretes for an assimilated Nun energetic, e. g., תִּשְׁמָרֶךָ.

Rem. 2. A Nun epenthetic is found, also, occasionally before נִי, e. g., יְכַבְּדַנְנִי.

4. To forms of the Imperfect ending in a consonant, וּ and הָ are sometimes appended instead of הוּ and הָ, e. g., יַשְׁפִּילָה, יִרְדְּפוּ. For ךְ of the second feminine singular כִי is occasionally found, e. g., אֶזְכְּרֵכִי.

5. A change of accent in a form with a suffix will, of course, cause a heightening and lowering of the changeable vowels in the word, e. g., אֲקַבְּצֵךְ in pause for אֲקַבְּצֵךְ.

6. Sometimes in forms of Imperfects in ŭ with suffixes, a compound Shewa appears instead of the usual simple Shewa, e. g., אֶרְדְּפֵךְ, אֶכְתָּבֶנָּה.

LESSON XXVII.

THE INFINITIVE, IMPERATIVE, AND PARTICIPLE WITH SUFFIXES.

A. THE INFINITIVES.

1. The Infinitive construct alone is used with suffixes.

2. The ordinary Infinitive construct Kal takes its original form ḳŭṭl before light suffixes, with the ŭ obscured to ŏ, e. g., קָטְלוֹ. But before grave suffixes, it takes the form קְטָל, e. g., קָטְלְכֶם.

Rem. 1. Both forms are found before ךָ, e. g., שָׁכְבְּךָ, לְשָׁמְרֶךָ.

Rem. 2. The Infinitive construct Kal frequently unites with the preposition לְ so as to form, as it were, one word. In such cases, the vocal Shewa becomes silent, e. g., לְשָׁפְטְךָ.

Rem. 3. The Infinitives are all inflected exactly like nouns, except that they take the objective suffix נִי for me. Of course, seeing that Infinitives are true verbal nouns, they must be treated as having the uses of both verb and noun. So, לְדָרְשֵׁנִי to seek me; but לְקָבְצִי for my gathering, i. e., that I gather.

Rem. 4. Before suffixes the Infinitive of בָּגַד becomes בְּגָד, e. g., בְּבִגְדוֹ; that of שָׁכַב, before the grave suffixes becomes שְׁכַב, e. g., שְׁכַבְכֶם, before the light suffixes שָׁכְב, or שָׁכַב, or שְׁכָב, e. g., שָׁכְבְּךָ, or שָׁכְבוֹ or שָׁכְבָה.

Rem. 5. Other forms of the Infinitive construct Kal beside the common form are שָׁכַב, זְקָנָה, אַהֲבָה, מִגְרַשׁ, מָמְשֶׁלֶת etc.

3. Of the Infinitives of the derived stems, it need only be remarked, that the Infinitive Hiphil is unchangeable like the nouns of Lesson III; and that the others change only the vowel of the ultimate like the nouns of Lessons IX and X.

B. THE IMPERATIVES.

1. Imperatives being really nothing but abbreviated Imperfects, i. e., the second person of the Imperfect Jussive with the preformative Tau omitted, affix the suffixes in exactly the same way as the Imperfect, with of course, the necessary consequent vowel changes, e. g., קְטָלֵהוּ, תִּקְטְלֵהוּ with the vowel ŏ as helping vowel; קְטָלֵיהוּ, תִּקְטְלֵיהוּ, with ֻ as helping vowel; הַקְטִילֵהוּ, תַּקְטִילֵהוּ; קַטְּלֵהוּ, תְּקַטְּלֵהוּ, with the original characteristic Hê appearing in the Imperative.

Rem. With the form of the 2nd masc. sing. Imv. with the suffix 3rd masc. sing. קָטְלוֹ may be compared יִקְטְלוֹ, the less common form of the Imperfect with the 3rd masc. sing. suffix.

C. THE PARTICIPLES.

1. The Participles are inflected exactly like nouns. It must be remembered, however, that they are really verbal adjectives, when they are true participles; and as such they take objective pronouns, not possessive, or adjective, pronouns, e. g., מְקַבְּצָם gathering them; מְקַדְּשְׁכֶם sanctifying you; רֹדְפָם pursuing them; שֹׁלְמִי רָע paying me evil.

Often, these adjectives have come to be indistinguishable from nomina agentis, e. g., רֹדְפֵיהֶם their pursuers, or those persuing them.

Rem. The Participle Hiphil is unchangeable in inflection; the Participles Kal, Piel, and Hithpael, are inuceted like the nouns in Lesson X; the Participles Niphal, Pal, and Hophal, like the nouns in Lesson IX.

LESSON XXVIII.

THE PERFECT AND IMPERFECT WITH WAU CONVERSIVE.

1. Wau conversive, or consecutive, is the conjunction Wau employed in immediate connection with the Perfect, or Imperfect, of the verb, with the result that the Perfect following it, takes no longer the nuances of the Perfect but of the Imperfect; and the Imperfect following it, takes the nuances of the Perfect.

2. With the Perfect, the Wau has the pointings of ordinary Wau conjunctive; but the accent of קָטַֽלְתָּה and קָטַֽלְתִּי is in most verbs thrown from the penult to the ultimate, when the Wau is conversive, e. g., וְקָטַלְתָּה but וְקָטַלְתָּה, so וְהִקְטַלְתָּ ,וְקִטַּלְתָּ etc. No change, however, takes place in the other seven forms of the Perfect, nor in the Perfect with Suffixes, when the Wau is conversive. The context alone must determine the character of the Wau.

3. With the Imperfect, Wau conversive takes the same pointings as the article with nouns. That is, before י, ת, and נ, the Wau conversive takes Pathah and the preformative is doubled, e. g., וַנִּקְטֹל ,וַתִּקְטֹל ,וַיִּקְטֹל. Since Aleph cannot be doubled, the Wau conversive takes ā before the first person singular, e. g., וָאֶקְטֹל.

Rem. Where the Yodh of the preformative has a half-vowel, it cannot be doubled. Where it is not doubled in pronunciation, it does not receive Dagesh forte in writing,
e. g., וַיְקַטֵּל, but with Wau conjunctive וִיקַטֵּל.

4. In the Hiphil, the Jussive form is used with Wau conversive, e. g., וַתַּקְטֵל ,וַיַּקְטֵל, but with suffixes וַיַּקְטִלֵהוּ.

5. Sometimes, Wau conversive causes the accent of the Imperfect to be thrown from the ultimate to the penult, e. g., in the irregular verb וַיָּ֫קָם for וַיָּקָ֫ם. .

6. After a protasis which may be resolved into an Imperfect, may come a perfect with Wau conversive, i. e., כַּאֲשֶׁר אֶפְקֹד = בְּיוֹם פָּקְדִי, when I shall visit. Hence, the perfect וּפָקַדְתִּי in the apodosis.

LESSON XXIX.

PĒ GUTTURAL VERBS.

1. The quickest way of mastering the guttural verbs is to apply the rules as to the peculiarities of gutturals to the original forms of the regular verb, observing the variations arising from the fact that at times the changes are based not on the original forms but on the forms in actual use, e. g., the original form of the Kal Imperfect was יָקְטֹל. If the first radical were a guttural, this would become יַעֲטֹל, which is the form now in actual use. But in the Piel of גָּאַל, we find גֵּאַל, a form based not on קַטֵּל but on קִטֵּל. So, also, in נֶעֱמַד, הֶעֱמִיד, and יֶחֱזַק, the Seghols arise from the forms נִקְטַל, הִקְטִיל, and יִכְבַּד, not from the forms הָקְטַל, נָקְטַל, and יָכְבַּד. So, also, יַעֲמֹד arises from יָקְטֹל rather than from יָנְקְטַל.

2. The Pê Guttural verbs (1) take compound Shewa, wherever the regular verb has simple vocal Shewa, e. g., עָמְדוּ, עֲמוּדָה, עֲמֹד, עֲמַדְתֶּם etc.

(2) Take a compound Shewa when the guttural would end the first syllable and hence have simple Shewa, e. g., הֶעָמַד, הֶעֱמִיד, נֶעֱמַד, נֶעֱמַד, יֶחֱזַק, יַעֲמֹד etc.

(3) Change this compound Shewa into the corresponding short vowel, wherever it would come before another Shewa, e. g., הֶעָמְדוּ, נֶעֶמְדוּ, יֶחֶזְקוּ, יַעַמְדוּ etc.

Rem. An exception to this rule occurs in the Imperative of the Kal in forms with vowel sufformatives, e. g., חִזְקוּ, עִמְדִי.

(4) In forms where the first radical should be doubled, heighten the preceding vowel, e. g., in Niphal wherever the Nun should be assimilated to the following consonant,
e. g., הֶעָמַד, יֵעָמֵד.

3. Sometimes, at the end of a syllable, a guttural takes a silent instead of a compound Shewa; and in such cases, the preformatives prefer Seghol to Pathah, e. g., יֶחְסַר, נֶהְפַּךְ, נֶאְדָּר, יֶעְתַּק, נֶחְשַׁבְנוּ. But where the ultimate vowel is Holem, the preformative may take Pathah, e. g., תַּחְבֹּל, יַחְמֹל; and, also, in some other cases, e. g., יַחְסְרוּ.

Rem. Seghol is also found sometimes in Imperative forms of the Kal with cohortative הָ, e. g., אֶסְפָה.

4. When the first radical is an Aleph, a Hatef-Seghol is employed in the Inf. Cons. and Imv. Kal instead of Hatef-Pathah, e. g., אֱכֹל, וַאֱמָץ.

Rem. But when a suffix is added, the compound Shewa becomes Ḥaṭef-Pathaḥ, e. g., אֲכָלְךָ, אֲכָלְכֶם.

LESSON XXX.
PÊ ALEPH VERBS.

1. Pê Aleph verbs are but a sub-class of Pê Guttural verbs, from which they differ in but a few particulars. In fact, most verbs whose first radical is Aleph belong to the Pê Guttural class, there being but seven verbs altogether beginning with Aleph, that have any of the peculiarities of the so-called Pê Aleph verbs. These are אָמַר, אָכַל, אָחַז, אָסַף, אָבַד, אָבָה, and אָפָה.

2. The distinguishing peculiarity of Pê Aleph verbs is, that the preformative of the Imperfect Kal has the vowel ô in which the Aleph quiesces, e. g., יֹאחַז, יֹאכַל, יֹאמַר, יֹאבֶה, יֹאבַד, and יֹאסֵף.

Rem. Two of these verbs have other forms, i. e., אָסַף and אָחַז, to wit: יֶאֱסֹף and יֶאֱחֹז. Two of them are Lamedh Hê as well as Pê Guttural, to wit: אָבָה and אָפָה and will be treated in Lesson XL.

3. In the first person singular of the Kal Imperfect, the Aleph of the root is dropped, e. g., אֹכַל, אֹמַר.

4. The Inf. cons. and the 2nd sing. masc. have a Ḥaṭef-Seghol with the Aleph אֱכֹל; but when a suffix is added it becomes Ḥaṭef-Pathaḥ, e. g., אֲכָלְכֶם, אֲבָדְכֶם.

5. The forms of the Imperfect of אָמַר and אָחַז, which are without sufformatives or suffixes, throw back the accent to the penult, when they have Wau conversive, e. g., וַיֹּאמֶר, וַיֹּאחֶז. In pause, however, we find וַיֹּאמַר etc.

LESSON XXXI.
AYIN GUTTURAL VERBS.

1. Wherever the regular verb has vocal Shewa under the second radical, these verbs have a compound Shewa, e. g., יִשְׁחֲטוּ, נִשְׁחֲטוּ, שֹׁחֲטִים, שֶׁחֲטוּ, יִשְׁחֲטוּ, שָׁחֲטוּ etc.

2. Since gutturals could not be doubled by the Hebrews, wherever the second radical should be doubled to constitute the form, as in the Piel, Pual, and Hithpael stems, it remains single; but the preceding vowel is often heightened by way of compensation, e. g., מֵאֵן.

3. More often, however, the vowel remains unheightened, the consonant being said to be implicitly doubled, e. g., בֵּעֵר, שִׁחֵק, רִחַץ, נִחַם, כִּהֵן, כִּחֵד, טִהַר, נִאֵץ. This is more common than not, when the second radical is Ḥeth, or Hê, or Ayin; but with Aleph, the vowel is usually heightened.

4. In the inflection of the intensive stems, verbs whose second radical is Resh, seeing that it cannot be doubled, always heighten the preceding vowel, e. g., בֹּרַךְ, בָּרֵךְ, בֵּרַךְ.

Rem. They frequently, also, take compound Shewa under the Resh, e. g., בֵּרֲכוּ, בֵּרֲכוּ.

5. When a helping vowel comes before a guttural with compound Shewa, the vowel is made to correspond with the Shewa, e. g., שַׁחֲטוּ.

6. In the Imperfect and Imperative Kal, the common vowel is ă, e. g., בְּחַר, אֶשְׁאַל, אֶבְחַר, יִשְׁחַט.

Rem. This ă is heightened before light suffixes, e. g., יִשְׁחָטֵהוּ, יִגְאָלֵנּוּ; but remains before the grave suffixes and ךָ, e. g., יִגְאַלְכֶם.

7. Always before Ḥeth with Qames, and once before Hê with Qames, the ă becomes Seghol, e. g., הִטֶּהָרוּ.

8. Sometimes, with Wau conversive, the accent is thrown back to the penult. In such cases, of course, the vowel of the ultimate is shortened, e. g., וַיְבָרֶךְ, וַיִּלָּחֶם.

LESSON XXXII.

LAMEDH GUTTURAL VERBS.

1. At the end of a word, after all heterogeneous vowels, the gutturals Hê, Ḥêth, and Ayin, take before them a helping vowel Pathaḥ, called Pathaḥ furtive. This vowel does not form a syllable, nor influence the accent; but is inserted, simply because of the difficulty of pronouncing these gutturals after any vowels but ă and ā, e. g., שָׁלַח, הַשְׁלִיחַ, שָׁלוֹחַ, שָׁלוּחַ.

Rem. The heterogeneous vowels are ē, î, ō, ô, and û,
i. e., all but ă, ā, e. g., יִשְׁמַע, שָׁלַח. The naturally long vowels ê and â do not occur in the guttural verb.

2. The Imperfect and Imperative Kal, with one or two exceptions, take ă as the characteristic vowel, e. g., תִּשְׁלַחְנָה, שְׁלַח, יִשְׁלַח.

Rem. 1. In pause, and before light suffixes, this ă is heightened to ā, e. g., תִּבְלָעֵנוּ, יִשְׁלָחֶךָ, יִשְׁמָע; but יִשְׁמַעֲכֶם.

Rem. 2. Before vowel sufformatives, this a is lowered,
e. g., שָׁלְחוּ, יִשְׁלְחוּ.

3. Wherever the regular verb has vocal Shewa under the third radical, the guttural has Ḥaṭef-Pathaḥ, e. g., מִנְעֲךָ, יִשְׁלָחֲךָ.

4. Wherever the regular verb has silent Shewa under the third radical Lomadh Guttural verbs have, also, silent Shewa, e. g., שְׁמַעְתֶּם, שְׁלַחְתִּיךָ.

5. Before the ending תְּ of the second feminine singular, these verbs take a helping vowel ă, to aid in the pronunciation, e. g., שָׁבַחַתְּ. It does not, however, constitute a syllable.

Rem. 1. In pause the ă of the accented syllable is heightened to ā, e. g., פָּשָׁעַתְּ.

Rem. 2. Before suffixes, this form is regular, e. g., שְׁלַחְתִּיהוּ.

Rem. 3. This helping vowel is to be compared with the helping Seghol in forms like קְטֶלֶת, מֶלֶךְ, and more particularly to the helping Pathaḥ in נַעַר and דַּעַת and בְּרַחַת.
The question arises as to whether the point in the ת is in this case Dagesh forte, or Dagesh lene. Origin and analogy would be in favor of Dagesh forte.

6. Feminine participles of these verbs may have the form שֹׁלַחַת, pause שֹׁלָחַת.

7. Forms which in the regular verb have Ṣere, derived probably from an original ă, retain the original ă, except in pause, where Ṣere usually occurs, e. g., וַיִּכְנַע, הַצְּלַח, יִבְקַע.

Rem. In the forms of the Hiphil Jussive and Imperative, where the guttural is the final letter, nothing but ă is ever found.

Participial forms, however, which have an ē heightened from an original ĭ, keep the ē in the absolute, but change it to ă in the construct, e. g., שָׁלַח, מְוַבֵּחַ.

LESSON XXXIII.

LAMEDH ALEPH VERBS.

Remember: Aleph always quiesces end of a word, + the vowel is consequently heightened

Lamedh Aleph verbs are but a sub-class of Lamedh Guttural verbs, but on account of the peculiar weaknesses of Aleph, they require a separate treatment to record their variations from the other Lamedh guttural verbs.

1. Wherever Aleph is the final letter of the syllable, the preceding vowel, if short, is heightened and the Aleph quiesces, e. g., מָצָא, נִמְצָא, רְפָא, מִטַּמֵּא; הָמְצָא, תִּמְצֶאנָה, מָצָאתִי; שָׁנֵאתָ. Or, it is attenuated and heightened, e. g., יְטַמֵּא, Rem. 1. Every Aleph which in the regular verb would come at the end of a syllable, quiesces in these verbs in the preceding vowel, which is then heightened.

Rem. 2. Where Tau follows a quiescent Aleph, it is aspirated, e. g., מָלֵאתָ.

2. The original characteristic ŭ of the Hophal is sometimes retained, e. g., הָמְצָא.

3. At the beginning or in the middle of a syllable and before suffixes the Aleph is treated as the other gutturals,
e. g., מְצָאוּ, יְמְצָאוּ, יְרְפָּאֵם, שְׂנֵאֲךָ.

Rem. In the form שְׂנֵאֲךָ, the guttural has attracted the original vowel from ĭ to ă, so as to cause it to harmonize with the Ḥaṭef-pathaḥ of the Aleph.

PÊ NUN VERBS.

Suff. Kal
Hiphil
Hophal
Perf. Niph

1. When the Nun occurs at the end of the initial syllable, it is assimilated to the following consonant, e. g., יִגַּשׁ, נִגַּשׁ, הִגִּישׁ.

The nun can only assimilate when there is nothing in between the nun and the following consonant.

Rem. 1. In the Hophal, this causes the retention in the sharpened syllable of the original ŭ, e. g., הֻגַּשׁ.

Rem. 2. Before gutturals the Nun ordinarily remains, e. g., יִגְעַם יֶנְהַג, יִגְאַף, הִנְחַלְתִּי. So, also, sometimes before other consonants, e. g., הִנְדֹּף, יֶנְטֹר.

On the other hand, the Nun is sometimes dropped and the guttural implicitly doubled, e. g., נֵחַם for נִנְחַם; or the preceding vowel is heightened by way of compensation, e. g., יֵחַת for יִנְחַת.

2. In the Imperative and Infinitive Construct Kal of verbs whose Imperfect is in ă or ē (from ĭ), the Nun is dropped, e. g., גַּשׁ, תֵּן; גֶּשֶׁת, תֵּת (See 3 (3) below).

Rem. 1. If the third radical is a guttural the Infinitive has ă, both as main and as helping vowel, e. g., גַּעַת, קַחַת (from לָקַח, see below).

Rem. 2. This Infinitive is a feminine segholate. Before suffixes, the ă either remains, or is attenuated to Ḥiriq, e. g., תִּתּוֹ, קַחְתּוֹ, גִּשְׁתּוֹ, גַּעְתּוֹ.

Rem. 3. When the Nun is followed by a guttural, it is not dropped, e. g., נְהַג.

Rem. 4. When the Imperfect is in ō (from ŭ), the Nun is not dropped, e. g., נְפֹל.

Rem. 5. The cohortative form of the Imperative is שְׁקָה, גְּשָׁה.

3. The verb נָתַן "to give" has the following peculiarities.

(1) The final Nun is assimilated to the sufformatives beginning with Tau, e. g., נָתַתָּה for נָתַנְתָּה etc. When the sufformative is גוּ, but one Nun is written, but it receives Dagesh forte, e. g., נָתַנּוּ

(2) The Imperfect and Imperative have the vowel ĭ, heightened to ē, e. g., תֵּן, יִתֵּן. Of course, this ē is lowered to Shewa before vowel sufformatives and likewise before light suffixes, e. g., אֶתְּנָה, תִּתְּנֵהוּ, יִתְּנֵהוּ, תִּתְּנוּ, יִתְּנוּ; and shortened to ĕ before כֶם, e. g., אֶתֶּנְכֶם.

(3) The Infinitive construct drops both Nuns and takes the form תֵּת (from נְתַנְתְּ). Before suffixes this becomes תִּת, e. g., תִּתְּכֶם, תִּתּוֹ.

4. The verb לָקַח, "to take", is treated in the Kal Imperfect, Infinitive construct, and Imperative, as if the first radical were Nun, i. e., we get the forms יִקַּח, יִקְחוּ, יִקָּחֵהוּ; קַח, קְחוּ, קָחֵהוּ; קַחַת, לָקַחַת, קַחְתּוֹ, קַחְתְּכֶם.

LESSON XXXV.

AYIN AYIN VERBS. or Double Ayin Verb.

Kal ...

In these verbs, the second and third radicals are alike. Some of the forms are always uncontracted and regular, as the Infinitive absolute and Participles of Kal, e. g., סָבַב, סוֹבֵב, סָבוֹב, — all forms which have in them an originally long vowel. Other forms are sometimes contracted and sometimes not, e. g., סַבּוּ, שָׁמְמוּ. It will be understood, that in what follows, we are treating of the irregular or contracted forms alone, since the regular forms need no further treatment.

Note that the contractions are usually made from the original forms.

1. When the verbal form has no sufformative only two radicals are written and the original vowel is generally thrown back on the first, e. g., נָסַב, סַב.

Rem. 1. In the Perfect and Participle Niphal, the throwing back of the vowel of the 2nd ~~second~~ radical to the preformative ~~first radical~~ causes the vowel of the ~~first radical~~ to be left in an open unaccented syllable. This vowel is then heightened to ā, e. g., נָסַב, נָסָב (cons. נְסַב), from נְסָבַב, נְסַבַב.

Rem. 2. In the Hiphil, the original ă of the second radical is thrown back to the first, where it sometimes remains unchanged, e. g., הֵפַר and with gutturals הֵרַע. אָרַע. But generally, it is changed to Tsere, which remains before vowel sufformatives, the following consonant being then doubled, e. g., יָסַב, הֵסַבּוּ, הֵסַב. Notice, that in the Hiphil Perfect, the vowel of the preformative, when before the tone, is Tsere.

Rem. 3. The Hophal throws back the vowel of the ~~third~~ 2nd radical to the ~~second~~ 1st and heightens the vowel

הוּסַבּוּ.

2. When the verbal form has a sufformative consisting of a vowel, it is affixed directly to the second radical, which is then doubled, e. g., הַסַּבּוּ; הֵסֵבּוּ, נָסַבּוּ, סַבּוּ; יָסֹבּוּ; יֻסַבּוּ, הוּסַבּוּ; יָסַבּוּ.

Rem. When the second radical is a guttural or Resh, the vowel is heightened if possible, e. g., רָעָה, רְעוּ. But יָרְעוּ, הֵפֵרוּ.

3. When the sufformative of the Perfect begins with a consonant a long vowel o is inserted between the sufformative and the doubled second radical, e. g., נְסַבּוֹתָ, סַבּוֹתָה, הוּסַבּוֹתָה, הֲסִבּוֹתָה.

Rem. The affixing of these endings causes no change in the Kal and Hophal except the doubling of the last radical. In the Niphal and Hiphil, however, it causes the lowering of the vowel of the preformative.

4. When the sufformative of the Imperfect begins with a consonant (i. e. in the feminine plural) the accented union vowel יָ is employed, e. g., תְּסֻבֶּֽינָה. The withdrawal of the accent from the sharpened syllable causes its vowel in the Kal and Hiphil to revert to the pure short vowel and the pretonic vowel of the preformative to be lowered,
e. g., תְּסֻבֶּֽינָה, תָּסֵבֶּֽינָה.

5. In Ayin Ayin verbs, there are found different contracted forms of the Kal Imperfect, e. g., יָקַל, יָסֹב, יְסֹב, יָרוּן(?), but יֵחַן.

Rem. The form יִסֹּב is exactly like the Imperfect in ŭ of the Pê Nun verb, e. g., יִסְבוּ, יִסֹּב; יִפְּלוּ, יִפֹּל.

6. The Niphal יִסַּב is contracted from יִנְסַבב. In יִסַּבּוּ, the ס is doubled because of the assimilated Nun, and the ב for the two radicals.

7. The Participle of the Hiphil changes the î of the ultimate to ē, and the ă of the penult to ē, thus making מֵסַב. Before endings this becomes מְסַב, e. g., מְסִבִּים, מְסִבָּה, מְסִבְּכֶם, etc.

8. When suffixes or sufformatives are added to the contracted forms, the vowels of the sharpened syllables are always short and pure and the vowel of the preformative is always lowered, e. g., יִסְבְּהוּ, הֲסִפּוּ, סַבּוּ ;יְסָבֵּהוּ; הֲסִבּוֹ.

Rem. When the contracted consonant is a guttural or Resh, the preceding vowel remains long even when the accent is withdrawn, e. g., תָּרֹעַם, מְצֵרָה, יְפֵרֵנוּ.

9. The following extraordinary forms are to be noted (1) רָגִּי with ŏ in the sharpened syllable instead of the more usual ō or ŭ. (2) תָּרוֹן with ō written fully. (3) נְשַׁדֵּנוּ perhaps for נְשַׁדּוֹנוּ. (4) יְשָׁלּוּךְ instead of יְשָׁלְךְ. (5) הָשַּׁמָּה for תֵּחַתּוּ = (8) יֵחַנְךְ for יְחָנְךְ. (7) נְבֹּלָה for נָבְלָה. (6) הוּשַׁמָּה תֻּסַּבּוּ in pause; but better to take it here as an intransitive Kal like יֵקַל (9) נָשַׁמָּה Niphal Perfect; נְשַׁמָּה Niphal Participle; נָסַבָּה Hiph. Imperfect; נְסַבֶּהָ Hiph. Imperfect with fem. suffix.

10. In the Intensive stems of these verbs, three forms are used:

(1) A regular form like קַטֵּל, e. g. הֲלָלוּ, וַיְמָרְרֻהוּ, רַגֵּן, גְּרַגְּנָה.

(2) A form which inserts an unchangeable ô after the first radical, but having the last syllable regular, e. g., הַסְתּוֹבֵב, סוֹבַב, סוֹבֵב.

(3) A form which doubles the contracted root, but has the same vowels as the regular Piel, e. g., שִׁעֲשַׁע, שַׁעֲשַׁע.

Rem. 1. The first syllable of all these forms remains unchangeable, and the second suffers in all the same changes, e. g., יְשַׁעַשְׁעוּ, יְסֹבְבוּ, סוֹבְבוּ.

Rem. 2. A verb may have two forms of the Intensive, e. g. הֵלַל, חֵלַל. הוֹלַל, חוֹלֵל.

LESSON XXXVI.

PÊ WAU VERBS.

1. At the beginning of a form, an original Wau has been almost always changed into Yodh, e. g., יָשַׁב ,יָרַד.

2. After preformatives, however, it is usually contracted

(1) When preceded by ă into ô, e. g., הוֹשִׁיב‎ ,נוֹשֵׁב‎.

(2) When preceded by ŭ into û, e. g., הוּשַׁב‎.

(3) When preceded by ĭ into î, e. g., יִירָא‎ ,יִירַשׁ‎.

Rem. 1. But in the Kal Imperfect of eight verbs, the original Wau has been dropped and the ĭ heightened into ē or the Wau has been first changed to Yodh and then contracted into ê, e. g., יֵשֵׁב‎, either from יוֹשֵׁב‎ or from יִישֵׁב‎.

Rem. 2. Some think that יוּכַל‎ is Kal Imperfect. If so the ו has been contracted from ĭw into û instead of the more common î.

3. The Kal Imperative is formed by dropping the preformative of the Imperfect, e. g. תֵּדַע‎ ,יְרָא‎ ,תִּירָא‎; שֵׁב‎ ,תֵּשֵׁב‎ ,דַּע‎; but רַשׁ‎ ,יִירַשׁ‎ (p. רָשׁ‎), רֵשׁ‎, and יְרָשָׁה‎. So, also, הַב‎ from יָהַב‎.

4. The Infinitive construct of verbs which have ê with the preformative drops the first radical and takes a so-called feminine segholate form, e. g., שֶׁבֶת‎, דַּעַת‎. But, also, רֶשֶׁת‎ from יִירַשׁ‎. In the case of יֵצֵא‎ ,יָצָא‎, the Infinitive takes the form צֵאת‎.

Rem. 1. Before suffixes, the segholate Infinitives are inflected exactly as if they were masculine segholates with one original short vowel a, or i, e. g. צֵאתוֹ‎ ,דַּעְתּוֹ‎ ,שִׁבְתּוֹ‎.

Rem. 2. The Infinitive construct of verbs, whose Imperfect is of a form like יִירָא‎ or יוּכַל‎, is varied, e. g., יְרֹא‎ and רִשְׁתּוֹ‎ ,רֶשֶׁת‎ ;יְכָלְתְּךָ‎ ,יְכֹלֶת‎ ;יְרָאָתוֹ‎ ;יִרְאַת‎ ,יִרְאָה‎.

LESSON XXXVII.

PÊ YODH VERBS.

1. Pê Yodh verbs strictly speaking are such as had originally a Yodh for their first radical. In the Kal Imperfect they all have î with the preformative, and ă after the second radical, just like the second form of Lesson XXXVI, e. g., יֵיטַב‎ ,יִיצַר‎.

Rem. 1. This ă becomes ĕ, when the accent is withdrawn to the penult, e. g., וַיִּיצֶק‎ ,וַיֵּיחָל‎. It becomes ā in pause, e. g., וָאִישֶׁן; where, also, an original ă is found heightened to ā, e. g., יְבֵשׁוּ.

Rem. 2. The Infinitives, Participles and Imperative of these verbs are formed regularly, e. g., יְטַב, יֹצֵר, יְטֹב, יָטֹב.

2. In the Hiphil, the original Yodh is contracted with the preceding ă into ê, e. g., יֵינִיק, הֵינִיק.

Rem. Singular is the pointing יְלִיל for יֵילִיל.

3. In a few verbs whose first radical was Wau or Yodh, the first radical is assimilated after the preformative in the Kal and Hiphil, just as if the first radical had been Nun, e. g., יַצַּק, אַצֵּת, הִצִּית, יַצִּית. almost every case of this kind the 2nd rad. is a sibbolant.

LESSON XXXVIII.

AYIN WAU VERBS. Review Kal only for Monday " of ץ ץ verb!

1. The Wau is dropped in the Perfect and Participle active, e. g., קָם, מֵת, בּוֹשׁ; and in some Jussives Kal and all Hiphil Jussives, e. g., יָקֵם, יָקֹם.

Rem. 1. In the third person of the Perfect the Wau is dropped but the original vowel of the second radical apparently is heightened, e. g., קוּם becomes קָם, מַוֶת becomes מֵת, בַּוֶשׁ becomes בּוֹשׁ. In the 3rd person this heightened vowel remains throughout and retains the accent, e. g., בּוֹשׁ. בּוֹשׁוּ, מֵתָה, מֵתוּ; קָמָה, קָמוּ. In the 1st and 2nd persons, the ā and ē become ă, e. g., קַמְתָּ, מַתָּה. But the ō remains, except before תֶּם and תֶּן where it is shortened to ŏ, e. g., בֹּשְׁתֶּם, בּוֹשְׁתָּ.

Rem. 2. In the Participle active, the second radical is dropped and the vowel heightened to an unchangeable a. The participle of the verb "to die" has the form מֵת and that of the verb "to be ashamed" has the form בּוֹשׁ. These are inflected an follows: קָם, קָמָה, קָמִים, קָמִי, קָמָיו; בּוֹשִׁים מֵתִים, מֵתָךְ, מֵתוּ, מֵתָה etc.

Rem. 3. The Jussive Kal יָקֹם comes from an original form yăkŭm; not from yakwŭm, which would have given the contracted vowel û. With Wau conversive, the Jussive becomes וַיָּקָם; in pause וַיָּקֹם.

Since the contraction in this verb occurs in the middle it affects both the 1st & 2nd syl. Much like the ayin ayin verb.

The Jussive of the Hiphil, likewise, comes from yăkĭm, not yakwîm. Hence, we get the forms יָקֵם, in pause וַיָּקֶם; with suffixes, וַיְקִמֵהוּ.

2. The Wau is contracted with u to û, with a to ô, with i to î.

(1) The Wau is contracted (a) with a preceding ŭ in the Kal Infinitive construct, e. g., קוּם from ḳŭwm.

(b) With a following ŭ, in the Kal Imperfect and Imperative, e. g. יָקֻם from yăḳwŭm, קֻם from ḳwum.

(c) With a following û, in the pass. part, Kal, e. g., קוּם from ḳăwûm.

(2) Wau is contracted with an a,

(a) Preceding and following in the Inf. Abs. Kal, e. g., קוֹם from ḳăwâm; in the Niphal Imperfect. Imperative and Infinitive, e. g. יִקּוֹם, הִקּוֹם from yinḳăwăm.

(b) Following, as in the Kal Imperfect and Imperative in ă, e. g. יֵבוֹשׁ from yăvwăš; in the Niphal Perfect and Participle, e. g. נָקוֹם from năḳwăm.

(3) Wau is contracted with i in the Hiphil throughout, so as to form î unchangeable, e. g., הֵקִים from hĭḳwîm; יָקִים from yăḳwîm.

Rem. 1. The Jussive Imperfect is an exception to this. See above under 1. Rem. 3.

Rem. 2. The Participle Hiphil is מֵקִים, not מֵקִם, as we should have expected.

3. A union vowel ô is inserted in the Perfects of the Niphal and Hiphil stems between the stem and the sufformatives. In the Niphal the contracted ô is commonly changed to û, e. g., נְקוּמֹת; Hiphil הֲקִימֹת.

But in the Niphal נְפֹצוֹתָ is found, with the ô unchanged.

Rem. In the Imperfect of Kal a union vowel יְ is inserted before the ending of the feminine plurals of forms which have an unchangeable û preceding the final radical, e. g., תְּמוּתֶינָה, תְּקוּמֶינָה; but תָּקֹמְנָה, תַּבוֹשְׁנָה (the last form being the Jussive of the first).

4. The Hophal has the same form exactly, as if the verb were Pê Wau, e. g., הוּקַם, יוּקַם etc.

5. The intensive stems are formed in three ways.

(1) They are sometimes regular, e. g., קִיֵּם.

(2) They reduplicate the third radical, and contract the second radical into an unchangeable ô, e. g., קוֹמֵם, קוֹמָם, רוֹמַם; עוֹפֵף; כּוֹנֵן; הִתְקוֹמֵם.

(3) They reduplicate the shortened Kal stem. e. g., כִּלְכֵּל. from kălkăl.

Rem. A verb way have two forms, e. g. קִיֵּם, קוֹמֵם.

6. When the 3rd radical is Tau and comes immediately before the Tau of a suffix, the two are written but once and the doubling denoted by Dagesh forte, e. g., מַתָּה, מַתִּי.

7. Notice, that in the 3rd fem. sing. and 3rd plur. of the Perfects and in the masc. plur. and 2nd fem. sing. of the Imperfect of the Kal, Niphal, and Hiphil Stems, the accent is on the penult, e. g., הֵקִימָה, קָמָה, נְקוֹמָה; קָמוּ, נְקוֹמוּ; תָּקִימוּ, יָקִימוּ; תְּקוֹמִי, תְּקוֹמוּ, יְקוֹמוּ; תָּלְוּמִי, תָּקֹמוּ, יָקֹומוּ; הָקִימוּ, תָּקִימִי.

8. Notice, also, especially such forms as תָּבִיא, יָבוֹא, הָרַע, הַצֵּד, נָגוֹסָה, אָרִיחַ, זָבַת (article with perfect), הֲקֵמֹתוֹ (instead of הֲקִימֹתוֹ), הֲמָתָנִי, וַתַּנַּח for הֵנִיחַ for הֵנִיחַ.

LESSON XXXIX.

AYIN YODH VERBS.

These verbs are exactly like Ayin Wau verbs, except that in the Kal Infinitive construct, Imperative, and Imperfect, î is found instead of û; and that no union vowel occurs in the feminine plural of the Imperfect, e. g., תְּשַׂמְנָה, שִׂים, יָשִׂים, שִׂים.

Rem. 1. That in these verbs the Imperfect Kal and the Imperfect Hiphil are the same in form.

Rem. 2. Sometimes the Infinitive construct has û, e. g., שׂוּם.

Rem. 3. In the Jussive Kal, just as in the Hiphil, the î becomes ē (by heightening from yăś[w]ĭm), e. g., וַיָּשֶׂם, יָשֵׂם; in pause וַיָּשֶׂם.

Rem. 4. When the last radical is Tau, and the sufformative begins with Tau, but one Tau is written. This Tau, however, receives Dagesh forte, e. g., שַׁתָּה.

Rem. 5. The first singular Imperfect Kal, or Hiphil, has the form אָשִׂים, even after Wau conversive. The cohortative is אָשִׂימָה.

Rem. 6. The Imv. of the Kal is like the Imperfect with the preformative dropped, e. g., שִׂים, שְׂמָה.

LESSON XL.

LAMEDH HÊ VERBS. Last rad·a l o'.

Originally, the third radical was Wau, or Yodh; but, when final, this radical has been dropped, its preceding vowel being heightened and being given the vowel letter Hê. From this last circumstance, the verbs are called Lamedh Hê. It must be remembered, that this Hê is never a radical, but always a vowel letter. When final Hê is a radical, it receives Mappik and the verb is treated as a Lamedh Guttural verb, e. g., גָּבַהּ.

1. In the Perfect, a final ă is heightened to ā, e. g. גָּלָה, נִגְלָה, הִגְלָה etc.

2. In the Imperfect, the final vowel caused by the loss of the 3rd radical is always Seghol, e. g. יִגְלֶה, יְגַלֶּה, יַגְלֶה.

3. In the Imperative, the final vowel caused by the dropping of the third radical is always Ṣere, e. g. גְּלֵה, הַגְלֵה, הִגָּלֵה.

4. In the Participles, the final vowels are for the masc. sing. abs. always Seghol; construct Ṣere, e. g., גֹּלֶה, גֹּלֵה. For the fem. sing. abs., we have גֹּלָה. For the masc. plur. cons. גֹּלֵי. The other forms are גֹּלוֹת, גֹּלַת, גֹּלִים. All other participles are formed in like manner, except the passive of Kal, which has the forms גְּלוּיָה, גָּלוּי, גְּלוּיֵ etc.

5. The Infinitive absolute of the Kal, Niphal, Piel, Pual, and Hithpeal ends in ô; of the Hiphil and Hophal in ē. In all of these forms, it seems that the third radical has simply been dropped, e. g., גָּלֹה (or גָּלוֹ), הֶגְלָה, הַגְלָה.

6. All Infinitives construct end in an unchangeable וֹת probably contracted from וַת or וַ_ת, e. g., הַגְלֹת, הֶגְלֹת, גְּלֹות. With suffixes גְּלֹותְכֶם, גְּלֹותוֹ.

7. Before all vowel sufformatives, the third radical disappears entirely, the sufformatives being affixed directly to the second radical, e. g. גָּלוּ, נִגְלוּ, הִגְלוּ; יִגְלוּ, תִּגְלִי; יַגְלוּ: יִגְלוּ.

8. Before sufformatives of the Perfect beginning with a consonant, the third radical is contracted with the preceding vowel of Kal into î, of the Pual and Hophal into ê, and of all the other stems into either ê or î, e. g. גָּלִיתָ, גָּלִיתָ or גָּלֵּיתָ.

9. Before sufformatives of the Imperfect and Imperative beginning with a consonant, the Yodh is preceded by a Seghol in which it quiesces; or with which it forms a diphthong, e. g., תִּגְלֶינָה, תִּגְלֶינָה, תִּגְלֶינָה.

10. The third feminine singular of the Perfect is anomalous in that it seems to have two feminine endings, i. e. גָּלְתָה is formed as if the original gălăyăth had dropped the yă and then added an ā to the gălăth. It will be seen, that if גָּלַת were the verb, the feminine would have the same form, e. g. גָּלְתָה, נִגְלְתָה (comp. נִקְטְלָה), גָּלְתָה (comp. קָטְלָה).

11. The Jussives are formed by apocopating the final vowel of the forms of the Imperfect and Imperative ending in Hê, e. g., גַּל, הֶגֶל, יַגֶל; יִתְגַּל, הִתְגַּל.

Rem. 1. In the Kal and Hiphil and Hophal Imperfects a helping vowel is generally needed to aid in the pronunciation of the apocopated forms, e. g., יִגֶל; יָגֶל or יִגֶל; יָגֶל. So, also, in the Hiphil Imperative, e. g., הֶרֶב from הַרְבֵּה from הַרְבֵּה.

But exceptions are not infrequent, e. g., יֵשְׁבְּ, יֵפְתְּ, יֵבְךְּ, יֵשְׁתְּ, יֵשְׁקְ.

Rem. 2. The Kal Imperative cannot be apocopated' since to cut off the ending from גְּלֵה would require a vowel to be given to the radicals remaining.

12. In the Perfect, the suffixes are added regularly to the forms of the first and second persons, the only change being the lowering in Kal of the vowel of the first radical to Shewa, since it is no longer pretonic, e. g., הִגְלִיתִיו‎, גְּלִיתִיהָ‎. They are added directly and without change in any of the stems, except the Kal, to the 3rd plural, e. g., הִגְלוּהָ‎, But in Kal the ā of the first radical is lowered when not before the accent, e. g., גְּלוּהָ‎, but גְּלוּכֶם‎.

In the case of the 3rd fem. sing., the form before suffixes is גְּלַת‎, גִּלַּת‎ e. g., כְּפָתְנִי‎, גְּלָתְנוּ‎.

In the 3rd masc. sing., the suffixes are added directly to the vowel after the second radical, the vowel letter having been dropped, e. g. גְּלָהוּ‎, כְּפָתוֹ‎. This final vowel is lowered before ךָ‎, כָם‎ and כֶן‎, e. g., גְּלָךְ‎. In pause הַרְבֵּךְ‎.

Rem. Note הָפְדָּהּ‎ with Seghol instead of Ḥiriḳ.

13. In the Imperfect and Imperative, the suffixes are added directly, without any change, to forms ending in וּ‎ and י‎ , e. g., תְּשָׁתּוּהוּ‎, יְכַסּוּהוּ‎. The fem. plur. takes the form of the second masculine plural.

The remaining forms, i. e. all those ending in ה‎ cut off the ה֒‎, or ה ,‎ and add the suffixes to the second radical just as the regular verb does to the third, e. g., תְּכַלֶּנָּה‎, אֶשְׁקֵךְ‎ , יַשְׁקֵנִי‎ , הַשְׁקָהוּ‎ , פְּדֵנִי‎ , תְּכַסֵּנּוּ‎.

LESSON XLI.

PÊ GUTTURAL AND פ״א VERBS WITH 2ND, OR 3RD RADICAL WEAK.

The verbs in this lesson all partake of the peculiarities of both the classes of weak verbs to which they belong.

1. Pê Guttural verbs which are also Ayin Guttural. These are such as עֲרֹךְ‎, עֲרַב‎, חָרַשׁ‎, חָרַס‎, אָהַב‎, Examples of forms: תְּהָרֵם‎, יַעֲרֹךְ‎, נֶאֱהָבִים‎.

2. (1) Pê Guttural and Lamedh Hê, such as הָמָה‎, הָגָה‎, עָשָׂה‎, לַעֲשׂוֹת‎, תֶּחֱוֶינָה‎, הֲמִיתֶם‎, נֶהְגָּה‎. Examples: עָשָׂה‎, עָלָה‎, חָוָה‎, עָשׂוֹ‎, וַיַּעַשׂ‎.

(2) Pê Guttural and Lamedh Aleph, such as חָטָא.
Examples: חָטְאָה, חָטָאוּ, יֶחֱטָא, ‏.יֶחֱטָם

(3) Pê Aleph and Lamedh Hê, such as אָבָה, אָפָה.
Examples: תּאֹבוּ, יאֹבֶה.

Rem. Sometimes, the Aleph is omitted, e. g., in וַתֹּפֵהוּ.

LESSON XLII.

VERBS PÊ NUN WHOSE THIRD RADICAL IS WEAK.

These verbs partake of the peculiarities of both kinds of weak verbs.

1. Those whose third radical was Wau, or Yodh, i. e., Lomadh Hê, e. g., נָטָה, נָבָה, נְטָה. Examples נָטָה, נָטִיתָ,
מְכִּים, יְכּוּ, הָכָּה; מַכֵּךְ, מַכָּה, הַכּוֹם, הַךְ, יַכֶּךָּ, יַךְ, יַכּוּם.

2. Those whose third radical is Aleph, e. g. נָשָׂא, נָשָׂא.
Examples: הִשִּׂיא, הִשִּׂיאַנִי; שְׂאִי, שָׂא, יִשְׂאָ, יִשְׂאוּ, שָׂאוּ, or שְׂאֵת.
הַשֵּׂא, יִשִּׂיא.

3. Those whose 3rd rad. is a guttural, e. g. לָקַח.
Examples: קַח, יִקָּחֵנִי, יִקְחוּ, יִקַּח, קַחַת, לָקַחַתְּ.

LESSON XLIII.

PÊ WAU AND PÊ YODH VERBS WITH 3RD RADICAL WEAK.

1. Third radical a Wau or Yodh, e. g., יָדָה. Examples:
יוֹדוּךְ, הוֹדָה, יוֹדֶה, הֹרוֹת, הוֹדָה.

2. Third radical an Aleph, e. g., יָצָא. Examples: יָצָאתָ, הוֹצֵא, הוֹצִיא, יֹצֵאת; יֵצֵאת, יֵצֵא, צְאוּ, צֵא; תֵּצֶאנָה, יֵצְאוּ, יֵצֵא, צֵאתוֹ, צֵאת יוֹצִיא.

3. Third radical a guttural, e. g., יָכַח, יָדַע. Examples:
יוֹכַח, הֹכַחַתְּ, הוֹכִיחַ; דְּעֵהוּ, דַּע, אֵדָעֵהוּ, יָדַע, דַּעְתּוֹ, דַּעַת.

VERBS WITH 2ND AND 3RD RADICALS WEAK.

1. The second a guttural, the 3rd a Resh, e. g., מָהַר, סָחַר. Just like Ayin Guttural verbs, e. g. מָהַר.

2. The second a Resh, the 3rd a guttural, e. g., קָרַע. Treated like Ayin guttural and Lamedh guttural verbs, e. g., יִקְרַע.

3. The second a Resh, the 3rd an Aleph, e. g., בָּרָא, קָרָא. Partake of the peculiarities of both, e. g., בָּרַא, קָרָא, Inf. cons. קְרֹא "to call", לִקְרַאת, קְרָאָה "to meet". See Paradigm XLIV, 2(?).

4. Second radical Wau. 3rd radical a guttural, e. g., גָּוַע. Wau remains firm and verb treated as Lamedh guttural only, e. g., יִגְוַע.

5. Second radical Wau, 3rd radical a Yodh (or Wau?), e. g. צָוָה, קָוָה, לָוָה. Wau remains firm and the verbs treated as Lamedh Hê only, e. g., יְקַוֶּה; צַו, יְצַוֶּה, צִוָּה, יְלַוֶּה; יְלָוֶה.

6. Second radical Wau, 3rd radical Aleph, e. g., בּוֹא. Partake of peculiarities of Ayin Wau and, also, of Lamedh Aleph verbs, e. g., בָּא, בָּאָה, בָּאתָה, בּוֹא, בּוֹאוּ, בָּאִים, בָּאַת, בָּאָה, בָּא, בּוֹא; or תְּבוֹאֶינָה, יָבוֹאוּ, יָבוֹא, תְּבוֹאנָה, בּוֹאַךְ; תְּבִיאֶינָה, יָבִיא, הֲבִיאֹתָנוּ, הֲבִיאֹתָ, הֵבִיאוּ, הֵבִיא, but הֵבֵאת; בָּאוּ, פָּאִי, הֻבָאת.

7. Second radical guttural, or Resh, and third radical Wau, or Yodh (Lamedh Hê), see paradigm XLIV 2. (1), שָׁתָה, קָרָה, מָחָה, שָׁעָה.

(1) Most of these partake of the peculiarities of both, e. g., זֹרוּ, זָרִית, וַרִית; תִּשְׁעֶינָה, יֵשַׁע, יִשְׁעָה, אָמְחָה, מָחִיתִי, מָחָה, שָׁעָה.

(2) קָרָה has some forms as if the 3rd radical were Aleph, e. g., לִקְרַאת, קְרָאָה see 3 above. But others are purely Lamedh Hê, e. g., קָרַךְ.

(3) שָׁתָה differs from other verbs in reduplicating the 3rd radical Wau in certain forms, e. g., הִשְׁתַּחֲוֵי, הִשְׁתַּחֲווּ, הִשְׁתַּחֲוָה; יִשְׁתַּחוּ (3rd. sg. masc. Impf.), יִשְׁתַּחֲווּ 3rd. plur. masc. Impf.

LESSON XLV

VERBS WITH ALL THE RADICALS WEAK.

1. When the first radical is a guttural and the verb Ayin Ayin, e. g., חָיָה, חָנַג, הָלַל, אָרַר. (See XLVI), חָקַק, חָנַן, חָלַל, Examples אָרוֹתִי, Imv. ־אָרָה or אֹרוּ; Niph. נֵאֹרִים; עָנַן, חָתַת.

Pi. אֲרָרָה, מְאָרְרִים; בְּהִלּוֹ Inf. cons.; Niph. נָחַל, Hiph. הַחַל, הֵחִתֹּת, חִתַּתַּנִי, אַחַתָּה; יָחֹן or יֵחֵנ, חָנֵּנִי, לַחֲנַנְכֶם, לְחָנְנָהּ; יָחֵל or יַחֵל.

2. When the first radical is Resh, the verb partakes of the peculiarities of all three classes, e. g., רָעָה, רָעָה, רָעָה.
Examples: רָאִיתָ, רָאָה, רְאוֹת; רָאָה, יִרְאָה, יָרָא, וַיֵּרְא, וַתֵּרָא, רְעִי, תִּרְעֶינָה; וַיֵּרָא, יַרְאָה, הֵרָאָה, יֵרָאָה; גִּרְאָה, רִאָה; רֹאֶה; רְאִי, רָאָה, יִרְאֵהוּ, הַרְאֵנִי, וַיֵּרָא, אֶרְאֵנּוּ.

3. When the first is Resh and the verb Ayin Ayin,
e. g., רֵעַ, רֶגַע, רְכַב (in pause), רַן Examples: יָרֹן, רָנִּי; יִרְעוּ, רְעִי; יָרַע or יָרַע, יְרֻעֹךְ (for יְרֹעֲךָ?) Inf. cons. רֹעַ or רַע; Niph.
יָרֹעַ; הָרַע, הָרֵעוֹת, הָרֵעוּ; הֲרֵעֹתֶם, מֵרַע; מְרֵעִים. Hiph. הָרַע, הָרֵעוֹת, הָרֵעוּ;

4. When the first radical is a Nun, it remains firm, and the verb partakes of the peculiarities of the other two classes, e. g., נֶחָה, נַחֲנִי, נָחָה.

5. Verbs Pê Guttural, Ayin Wau, and Lamedh Hê (Yodh), e. g., עָוָה, הָוָה, אָוָה. In these verbs, the Ayin Wau is always firm, e. g., הֶעֱוָה, נַעֲוֵתִי, עֲוִתָה, הִתְאַוּוּ, אִוְּתָה; תִּתְאַוּוּ.
So also with רָוָה, e. g., רְוְתָה, יִרְוְיֻן.

6. Verbs Pê Guttural, Ayin Resh, and Lomadh Hê,
e. g., עָרָה, חָרָה, חָרָה. These partake of the peculiarities of all three radicals, e. g., וַיַּעַר, וַיִּחַר, וַתִּפַהר, הֶחֱרָתָה, הָרָתָה.

LESSON XLVI.

THE VERBS חָיָה AND הָיָה.

1. The forms of הָיָה to be noted are לִהְיֹת, הֱיוֹת, הֱיִיתֶם, יְהִי, וַיְהִי, וִיהִי, יְהִי (with silent Shewa under the radical Hê), וִהְי, וֶהְיֵה, הֱיֵה, תִּהְיֶינָה, וַאֱהִי, וַתְּהִי.

2. The verb חָיָה is treated as a contracted Ayin Ayin verb, or as an uncontracted Ayin Ayin verb. In the latter case, it is a Lamedh Hê verb. Examples: חַי, חָיָה, יְחָיָה, חֱיוֹת (with silent Shewa under Heth and ĭ under the preformative), תִּחְיֶינָה; וַיְחִי, וַיְחִי, יְחִי, יְחִי. Verbal adjective חַי living, חַיָּה, חַיִּים.

LESSON XLVII.

THE NUMERALS.

A. THE CARDINALS.

1. The cardinals for one and two are of the same gender as the object numbered, e. g., אִישׁ אֶחָד one man, יוֹם אֶחָד one day, שָׁנָה אֶחַת one year. שְׁנֵי הַמְּאֹרֹת the two lights; שְׁתֵּי נָשִׁים two wives.

Rem. Commonly one is not expressed, e. g., אֶלֶף is one thousand; אַמָּה one cubit. So, also, two is expressed by the dual, e. g., יוֹמַיִם two days; מָאתַיִם וְאַלְפַּיִם two hundred and two thousand.

2. The cardinals from 3 to 10 inclusive are of the opposite gender from that of the object numbered, e. g., עֲשָׂרָה גְמַלִּים ten curtains; שֵׁשׁ מֵאוֹת six hundreds; עֲשָׂרָה יְרִיעֹת ten camels; שֶׁבַע שָׁנִים (שָׁנִים is feminine) seven years.

3. The number eleven is formed by putting אַחַד or עַשְׁתֵּי before עָשָׂר ten, to constitute the form used with masculine nouns; and אַחַת before עֶשְׂרֵה to constitute the form used with feminine nouns, e. g., עַשְׁתֵּי עָשָׂר חֹדֶשׁ 11 months; עָרִים אַחַת עֶשְׂרֵה 11 cities. אַחַד עָשָׂר נְשִׂיאִם 11 princes;

4. The number twelve is formed by placing שְׁנַיִם or שְׁנֵי before עָשָׂר to constitute the form used with masculine nouns; and שְׁתַּיִם or שְׁתֵּי with עֶשְׂרֵה to constitute the form used with feminine nouns. שְׁנֵים עָשָׂר אַחִים 12 brethren. שְׁתֵּים עֶשְׂרֵה אֲבָנִים 12 stones.

5. The numbers from 13 to 19 inclusive are formed by putting the feminine absolute or construct form of the units before עָשָׂר to constitute the forms used with the masculine noun; and the masculine absolute or construct, form of the unit before עֶשְׂרֵה to constitute the form to be used with the feminine noun, e. g., חֲמִשָּׁה עָשָׂר יוֹם fifteen days; חֲמֵשׁ עֶשְׂרֵה שָׁנָה fifteen years. חֲמֵשֶׁת עָשָׂר בָּנָיו his fifteen sons;

6. The number 20 is formed from the original form of ten by affixing the plural masculine ending, e. g., עֶשְׂרִים (from עָשָׂר), עֶשֶׂר.

7. The other tens are formed from the units by affixing the masculine plural ending to the masculine singular construct, e. g., שְׁלשִׁים 30. In the case of 40, the vowel, before the plural ending is heightened, e. g., אַרְבַּע; but, אַרְבָּעִים. In the case of 50 and 60, the final consonant is doubled, e. g., שִׁשִּׁים, חֲמִשִּׁים. In the case of 70 and 90, the plural ending is appended to the original one vowel form, e. g., תֵּשַׁע from תִּשְׁע; hence, תִּשְׁעִים. In the form for 70, the original ă has been attenuated, e. g., שִׁבְעִים from שֶׁבַע from שִׁבְע. In the case of 80 the ending of שְׁמֹנֶה is dropped and the plural appended to שְׁמֹן forming שְׁמֹנִים.

Rem. These numbers are not used in the construct.

8. In Hebrew, one may say two and twenty, or twenty and two.

9. The word for one hundred is מֵאָה, const. מְאַת, plur. מֵאוֹת, const. מְאוֹת; 200 מָאתַיִם (for מְאָתַיִם); 300 שְׁלשׁ מֵאוֹת; 400 אַרְבַּע מֵאוֹת; 500 חֲמֵשׁ מֵאוֹת; 600 שֵׁשׁ מֵאוֹת; 700 שְׁבַע־מֵאוֹת; 800 שְׁמֹנֶה מֵאוֹת, 900 תְּשַׁע מֵאוֹת.

10. The word for one thousand is אֶלֶף, אֲלָפִים, אַלְפֵי, dual אַלְפַּיִם=2000; 3000 שְׁלשָׁה אֲלָפִים, or שְׁלשֶׁת אֲלָפִים etc.

11. The word for ten thousand is רִבּוֹא; 40000=אַרְבַּע רִבּוֹא or רִבּוֹתַיִם=20000; אַרְבָּעִים אֶלֶף or עֶשְׂרִים אֶלֶף.

12. As to the number of the object numbered, the following rules are to be remembered:

(1) The singular is used invariably with one, e. g., יוֹם אֶחָד.

(2) The plural is used commonly with numbers from three to ten, e. g., שֵׁשׁ מֵאוֹת, שְׁלשֶׁת אֲלָפִים, שָׁלשׁ אַמּוֹת, שְׁבַע שָׁנִים.

(3) The dual is used commonly for two, e. g., יוֹמַיִם, אַלְפַּיִם.

(4) The plural is used ordinarily for numbers from eleven to nineteen inclusive, e. g., אַחַד עָשָׂר כּוֹכָבִים eleven stars; שְׁלשָׁה עָשָׂר פָּרִים twelve princes; שְׁנֵים עָשָׂר נְשִׂיאָם thir-teen bullocks; שִׁשָּׁה עָשָׂר אֲדָנִים sixteen bases; אַחַת עֶשְׂרֵה עָרִים eleven cities (עָרִים is feminine).

Rem. 1. But frequently a singular form of the thing numbered is employed, e. g., שִׁבְעָה עָשָׂר אָלֶף seventeen thousand; תִּשְׁעָה עָשָׂר אִישׁ nineteen men.

Rem. 2. The plural is generally used, when the object numbered precedes the numeral, e. g., פָּרִים שְׁלֹשָׁה עָשָׂר 13 bullocks.

(5) With numbers above nineteen, the numeral usually precedes and the thing numbered follows in the plural, e. g., עֶשְׂרִים עֲבָדָיו his twenty servants; שְׁבַע־מֵאוֹת פָּרָשִׁים seven hundred horsemen; תִּשְׁעִים עֲבָדִים 90 servants.

Or, if the noun is a collective, it may be put in the singular, e. g., עֶשְׂרִים יוֹם 20 days; חֲמִשִׁים אָלֶף אִישׁ 50000 men; תֵּשַׁע וְעֶשְׂרִים שָׁנָה 29 years.

(6) The hundreds and thousands, also, precede the name of the thing numbered, e. g., מָאתַיִם וַאֲלָפַיִם מַלְאָךְ 2200 angels; אַלְפֵי רְבָבָה thousands of myriads; מֵאָה שָׁנָה 100 years מְאַת שָׁנָה 100 years.

(7) With numbers compounded of units, tens, hundreds etc., the name of the objects enumerated is frequently repeated, in the plural with the units, and in the singular with the tens, hundreds, and thousands, e. g., חָמֵשׁ שָׁנִים וְשִׁבְעִים שָׁנָה וּמֵאָה שָׁנָה five years and seventy years and one hundred years.

13. The cardinals from two to ten inclusive may stand in the construct before the noun; or in apposition either before, or after, the noun, e. g., עֲשֶׂרֶת יָמִים ten days. אֲלָפִים עָשָׂר 3000; שְׁלֹשֶׁת חֲמִשָּׁה יָמִים five days, שָׁלֹשׁ אַמּוֹת three cubits; עָרִים ten cities.

Rem. The word for year is used frequently in the construct singular before the number, e. g., בִּשְׁנַת שְׁמֹנִים וָשֶׁבַע in the eighty seventh year.

B. THE ORDINALS.

1. There are several ways of expressing "the first."

(1) הָאֶחָד follows the noun, e. g., הַקֶּרֶשׁ הָאֶחָד, the one board = the first board.

(2) In naming the days of the month, the idiom is as follows: בְּאֶחָד לַחֹדֶשׁ on the first of the month.

(3) In numbering the years, we have the following idiom; בְּשָׁנָה אַחַת in the first year.

(4) הַבַּיִת הָרִאשׁוֹן is used, e. g.,

X   2. Ordinals from second to tenth are formed by appending יִ to the third radical of the cardinal and usually by inserting another יִ after the second radical of the cardinal, e. g., עֲשִׂירִי, תְּשִׁיעִי, שְׁמִינִי, שְׁבִיעִי, שְׁלִישִׁי, e. g., בַּחֹדֶשׁ הַשְּׁמִינִי in the eighth month הַחֹדֶשׁ הָעֲשִׂירִי the tenth month.

Rem. 1. The prosthetic Aleph is dropped in forming fourth, e. g., רְבִיעִי e. g., הַיּוֹם הָרְבִיעִי the fourth day.

Rem. 2. Sixth and fifth double the last radical and keep the vowel before the second a short i, e. g., שִׁשִּׁי, חֲמִשִּׁי, as in הַיּוֹם הַשִּׁשִּׁי the sixth day.

Rem. 3. Second is of the form שֵׁנִי, e. g., בַּחֹדֶשׁ הַשֵּׁנִי in the second month.

3. The feminine is formed by appending ת, e. g., הַשָּׁנָה הַשֵּׁנִית the second year; הָעִיר הַשְּׁלִישִׁית the third city.

4. The ordinals above ten are expressed by the cardinals, which commonly in such usage precede the noun, e. g., בְּעַשְׁתֵּי־עָשָׂר חֹדֶשׁ in the eleventh month; בִּשְׁנֵים עָשָׂר חֹדֶשׁ in the twelfth month; בִּשְׁלֹשׁ־עֶשְׂרֵה שָׁנָה in the thirteenth year; בְּשִׁבְעָה עָשָׂר יוֹם on the seventeenth day; בְּעֶשְׂרִים וְאֶחָד לַחֹדֶשׁ on the twenty-first of the month; בְּעֶשְׂרִים וַחֲמִשָּׁה לַחֹדֶשׁ on the twenty-fifth of the month; בִּשְׁלֹשִׁים וְשֶׁבַע שָׁנָה in the thirty-seventh year; בְּאַרְבָּעִים שָׁנָה in the fortieth year.

Rem. 1. Sometimes, however, they follow the noun when the year is enumerated, e. g., בַּשָּׁנָה הָאַחַת עֶשְׂרֵה in the eleventh year; בִּשְׁנַת שְׁמֹנִים וָשֶׁבַע in the eighty seventh year.

Rem. 2. Sometimes the word for year precedes in the construct and follows, also, in the absolute, e. g., בִּשְׁנַת חֲמֵשׁ עֶשְׂרֵה שָׁנָה in the fifteenth year.
